City Plant Hit By Flash Fire; Others Menaced

Loss Not Likely to Top $15,000 Due to Fine Work of Firemen

A flash fire that swept through a section of the old Sweeney Cooperage Ltd. plant on the Industrial Reserve at 9:15 p.m. last night caused damage estimated at between $10,000 and $15,000.

Officials of the Sidney Roofing & Paper Co. Ltd., present owners of the plant, credit the fine work of the Victoria Fire Department in confining the blaze and keeping the damage at a minimum.

Origin of the fire has not yet been determined but the conveyor section of the plant, connecting the heating plant and a large warehouse was gutted.

SMOKE, WATER DAMAGE

The heating plant, which supplies part of the steam for milling operations of the paper company was undamaged. However, fibrerock, shingles and other general items in the warehouse suffered smoke and water damage.

The blaze, located in the heart of the Industrial Reserve, menaced hundreds of thousands of dollars of property at its height. A few hundred feet from the plant tons of paper was stacked high in the air. More distant were gas storage tanks.

The fire, classed as a one-alarm by the fire department, was reported at least 11 times at headquarters by residents who saw flames shooting high in the sunset sky.

FIREMEN AT LECTURE

At the time of the first report, 9.17 p.m., all firemen of the Victoria department were at headquarters attending a lecture and movies on fighting oil fires.

The two pump trucks and service trucks sent at the first report were all that was necessary to handle the fire, however. Two other units were readied at the station, just in case.

New Regulations Issued On Guards' Employment

New regulations covering employment of members of the Canadian Corps of Commissionaires by the National Defence Department have been issued from the office of the Naval Secretary at Ottawa to the Flag Officer, Pacific Coast, The Daily Colonist learned yesterday.

The news marks another development in the controversial "changing of the guard" situation at Esquimalt Dockyard.

The new regulation provides that separate orders in council are needed to authorize the department to enter into agreements with the Corps of Commissionaires.

NO ORDER AT PRESENT

So far as is known, there is no order in council to cover the employment of the group of commissionaires now sharing guard duties with civil service security guards and Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Civil service guards are protesting the employment of commissionaires to replace some R.C.M.P. guards who were withdrawn.

The new regulation states that the rate of compensation to commissionaires is set by the governing order in council. Any change in rate requires a new order in council.

By authority of the treasury board, rates are to be five cents an hour less than prevailing rates for laborers recommended by the Department of Labor for the locality. However they must not be more than 75 cents an hour, or less than 60.

The 75-cent maximum is 15 cents less than the 90-cent rate set for the area.

In addition, five cents for every hour worked is to be paid to the local corps, and one-and-one-half cents to corps headquarters at Montreal.

EXPECT NEW ORDER

However, a new order in council is expected "within several days," according to Major W. Merston, honorary adjutant of the corps here.

"I should think it would authorize higher pay for commissionaires," he said.

Commenting on the five and the one and one-half cent payments, he said the former covers holiday pay, unemployment insurance and 24-hour accident insurance, while the latter covers "operating expenses" of the Montreal office of the corps.

Major Merston stated that the policy of the Government across Canada seemed to be replacement of civil service security guards by commissionaires.

He said civil service guards could probably gets jobs with no decrease in pay with the corps—"provided they were eligible and could meet qualifications."

Claim Case Against Spy Ended by Official Order

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP).—An elaborate plan to trap a Russian spy seeking wartime plane secrets in the United States crumbled when "Mr. Byrnes of the State Department" vetoed his arrest, a jet-engine expert testified today.

The witness, Loren G. Haas of Buffalo, did not further identify "Mr. Byrnes" in his testimony before the Un-American Activities Committee. But the period about which he was talking was 1945, and James F. Byrnes took over as Secretary of State in July of that year.

Haas and two other witnesses, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Franey of Niagara Falls, N.Y., made it clear in talking to reporters that the reference was to State Secretary Byrnes.

DENIES CLAIM

Byrnes, now a member of a law firm here, told a reporter: "Never did I tell any official of the Government not to arrest anyone. That is not a matter for the Secretary of State but one for the Department of Justice."

Haas and the Franeys told the committee a detailed story about acting as decoys for agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation trailing a Russian agent who was seeking top-secret data on American jet planes, sweep-wing aircraft and other highly confidential subjects.

They identified the Russian as Andrei Schevchenko, a purchasing agent for the Soviet Union and liaison man for the Russian Government at the Bell aircraft plant at Buffalo.

But after they "spoon-fed" him with trivial data for months, under close supervision of the Government detectives, Schevchenko was permitted to skip the United States without arrest, they said.

AIRTIGHT CASE

Haas said the F.B.I. agents told him they had developed an airtight case against Schevchenko. But when he asked the G-men when they were going to crack down, Haas said he was "passed off" with such answers as:

"Well, Mr. Byrnes of the State Department says we can't touch him."

Franey, who had testified ahead of Haas, said he had been told by an F.B.I. agent that the State Department wanted to "appease" the Russian agent.

The Franeys live in Niagara Falls, where Franey is employed by the Hooker Electro Chemical Company. Mrs. Franey still is librarian at Bell's Buffalo plant. Haas was employed by Bell until March, 1945, when he went to Westinghouse Electric in Philadelphia. He now works for an engineering research firm in Buffalo.

Franey said the Russian's plane spying—with G-men virtually looking over his shoulder—occurred from the Summer of 1943 until February, 1946.

Soldiers, Civilians Join in Desperate Effort to Find Missing Boy

Not an inch of ground is left unsearched as 200 men, led by Major John S. Gilchrist, of Magog, set out to beat the fields and forest around the Eastman, Que., home of six-year-old Michal Fontaine, missing for more than a week. Led by experienced guides and walking five feet apart, these men shown in top photo set out last week-end on a final "all out" search for the missing boy as part of 2,000 volunteer searchers who turned this child hunt into the biggest "man hunt" in the history of the Province. In lower picture soldiers from nearby army camps are shown before plunging into the woods to try to track down the missing boy.

Stromboli Volcano In Eruption

PALERMO, Sicily, June 6 (Reuters).—The volcano Stromboli tonight was reported in eruption with copious streams of lava flowing towards the sea amid clouds of steam. Explosions inside the volcano were heard during the afternoon.

Film Star Ingrid Bergman and the Italian film producer, Roberto Rossellini, who have been making a film called "After the Hurricane" on Stromboli, left the island two days ago.

The eruption was officially confirmed tonight from Messina. Lava was reported flowing from the northwest side of the volcano. So far it had not caused any grave danger.

Stromboli is a 3,038-foot volcano in the Lipari Islands north of Sicily and about 35 miles west of the west coast of Italy. It is always in a mild state of activity and is known to sailors as "the lighthouse of the Mediterranean."

It last burst into life in September, 1946, when it threw out showers of ashes and cinders for some days, damaging crops, and emitting a stream of lava which flowed down the crater to the sea.

Election Placards Put Out of Reach

PORT ALBERNI, June 6—Something new in elections caught the eye of many citizens here today at the corner of Third Avenue.

Labor Progressive Party candidate Nigel Morgan had a high rigger with climbing irons placing his election placards high above the reach of those he claims were destroying them.

Asserts Prices Too Low For Pulpwood

Swedish delegate to the International Federation of Agriculture today said Canadian and United States prices for wood pulp are "too low."

F. von Heland, who is also a member of Sweden's Parliament, said in an interview that he would seek stabilization of wood-pulp prices through an arrangement similar to the recently-negotiated International Wheat Agreement.

He said he believed wood-pulp was sold at a lower price in North America because "you are not as concerned as Sweden is with protecting the natural resources of your forests."

Areas in New Brunswick, Quebec and Ontario through which he passed on his way to Guelph had been cleared of standing timber and not reforested.

Von Heland, a dairy farmer and owner of considerable acreage of standing timber, said he felt it a mistake that Marshall-Plan aid was being used to buy wood-pulp in North America.

"Sweden and other European countries can supply this demand themselves," he said. "It would be sounder economics if this Marshall-Plan money were used instead to purchase food and farm machinery in short supply in Europe."

Tenants Say 'Housing First'

VANCOUVER, June 6 (CP).—Tenants of three Vancouver dwellings, contending that homes for human beings are more important than housing "a bunch of old paintings," are waiting for court action to decide their fate.

The three houses are on the site of a proposed $300,000 addition to the Vancouver Art Gallery. The new wing will house the paintings of Emily Carr.

New Clues Fruitless In Search for Boy

EASTMAN, Que., June 6 (CP).—A week ago tonight six-year-old Michel Fontaine vanished without trace in the mountain woodlands of this eastern township's farm country and, though search for him continues, his disappearance remains as mysterious as ever.

Today's hunt by some 250 men added to discouragement felt when a week-end combing of the woods and mountains by 2,500 searchers was fruitless.

A party of picked men investigated what appeared to be three footprints made by a child between the farm home of Charles Fontaine and Trouserleg Pond, about 1½ miles into the bush.

FEARED DEAD

They returned without new information on the frail lad, considered generally now to have died from his long exposure to the elements and mosquitos.

The area where he disappeared when he failed to come home from an evening trip to pasture to get the family cows is four miles from Eastman and about 70 miles east of Montreal. It is as wild and rugged as any area in settled portions of Quebec.

Warwick Fox, member of the Quebec Legislature for Brome, who has been superintending activities of volunteer searchers, said the hunt would go on "as long as physically possible."

RUMORS REVIVED

Through the day yesterday's rumors were revived, particularly one report that the child, suffering from asthma and small of stature for his age, had been seen scampering across a road.

That report reached Chief of Police Edmond Rioux of Eastman, but turned out—as have so many other similar reports—to be groundless.

From the intensive week-end hunt—the most detailed woods search ever conducted in the eastern townships—the Sunday evening report of finding three footprints which might have been made by the boy was the most encouraging news. But nothing came of it.

Johannesburg In Uproar Over New Gold

JOHANNESBURG, June 6 (CP).—Never in its business history has Johannesburg had a day like today.

Little ordinary business was done. Brokerage houses were jammed with traders and speculators trying to buy into gold shares which soared following an announcement of a rich gold strike in Orange Free State last week.

With a huge week-end accumulation of orders, brokers strove madly at the opening in a record buying spate which sent Free State gold area shares up another pound, then still higher until slight profit-taking eased prices.

Free State gold area shares closed at 50 shillings ($10), compared with Friday's closing of 36, while Union Free States closed at 22 compared with 16 Friday.

Corridors of the Stock Exchange were jammed with gold-mad throngs, shouting and screaming for a chance to unload their money.

Over the week-end, leading British and American financial houses offered huge sums for investment in the gold fields, one block of shares going to a London buyer for £250,000 ($1,000,000).

The Johannesburg evening paper, Afrikaans Vaderland, said one new borehole has revealed uranium deposits, and that Government experts are on the spot investigating.

Fire Fighters Injured As Blast Rocks Home

ST. FERDINAND, Que., June 6 (CP).—Three men suffered serious injuries and 15 others were treated for cuts and bruises today in an explosion which rocked this Eastern Township village.

The blast, believed to have been caused by dynamite, came during a fire in the large frame building of Theode Tanguay, 55. The 18 casualties reported were volunteer firefighters, all injured by flying debris. Some also were treated for shock from the explosion.

Real Cullen, a baker who helped fight the blaze, said Tanguay had stored a case of dynamite in the basement of his home. There was no one in the house at the time, Tanguay's wife and children being outdoors.

SERIOUSLY HURT

Tanguay, Jean Paul Simoneau and Roger Guillemette were taken to hospital. Tanguay suffered a possible spinal injury, Simoneau fractures of the arm and leg, and Guillemette a fractured leg and a bruised arm. All three suffered shock.

Of unknown origin, the fire broke out at the rear of the house. Tanguay noticed it first and it was he who sounded the alarm.

Volunteer firemen, under direction of Chief Emile Laframboise, were attempting to put out the flames when the explosion occurred.

"The whole structure just went flying up in the air. Some pieces must have nearly gone 500 feet in the air," said Cullen. The men nearest to the house were hit by flying debris, he added.

Hungary Ousts Yugoslavians

BUDAPEST, June 6 (AP). — The Hungarian Government tonight ordered four employees of the Yugoslav Legation here to leave the country within 48 hours.

A communique said the action was a counter-measure against the "illegal and provocative attitude of the Yugoslav Government."

BULLETINS

Two Drown

LONG BEACH, Calif., June 6 (AP). — The Coast Guard reported tonight that a little girl and a physician were drowned and 10 persons saved after the fishing boat Otay capsized near Avalon on Santa Catalina Island.

The Coast Guard said it hadn't learned how the accident happened but that the sea was "not too rough."

Can Oust Sailors

CAPETOWN, June 6 (CP).—The Supreme Court today granted an application by Captain George Leach, master of the Canadian freighter Cumberland County, for an order to eject immediately 29 striking crew members.

Arrangements were made to lodge 21 in an immigration detention barracks and the other eight in the city jail pending available transport to Canada.

Star to Marry

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., June 6 (AP).—Elizabeth Taylor of the movies will wed William D. Pawley, Jr., son of the former United States Ambassador to Brazil, it was announced today. No date for the marriage has been set.

Probe Report

NEW WESTMINISTER, B.C., June 6 (CP).—Police are investigating a report that Mrs. James Dean, 60-year-old Ladner amnesia victim, was seen walking across the Patulla bridge here today. Mrs. Dunn has been sought ever since she wandered away May 28.

Cleric Slated To Come Here Dies in Crash

WINNIPEG, June 6 (CP).—Canon and Mrs. William Askey were killed tonight when their automobile collided with a bus, 16 of whose passengers, including the driver, were slightly injured.

Police said the bus was heading north towards Selkirk and the automobile south at the time of the collision.

RECTOR 16 YEARS

Canon Askey, 60, had been rector of All Saints Anglican Church here for 16 years, and was an army chaplain in both the Great and World Wars. He had been scheduled to leave for Vancouver Island in September to assume charge of two churches—St. Peter's, Quamichan and St. Andrew's, Cowichan, B.C.

His automobile was demolished in the collision. Police still were investigating tonight.

In the Great War Canon Askey, a tall, striking figure, accompanied the Canadian Expeditionary Force to Siberia in 1918.

He enlisted at the outbreak of the World War and later became senior Protestant chaplain of the 4th Canadian Division.

At the time of his death he was padre of the Army and Navy Veterans, the Amputations Association and the Winnipeg Grenadiers here.

He was born in Louth, Lincolnshire, England, and stood six feet four and one-half inches in height.

VETERAN CLERIC

Canon Askey came to Winnipeg as rector of Christ Church in 1926. He had also served in Anglican churches in Vancouver, Pense, Sask., and Saskatoon. He was canon of the Diocese of Rupert's Land, a member of the executive committee of the same diocese and a delegate to the provincial and general synods of the Anglican Church.

There survive two sons, Derek, a student at the University of Manitoba, and Alan, studying forestry at the University of New Brunswick. A third son, Michael Askey, was killed during the World War while flying with the R.A.F. in Italy.

Secret Meetings Fail to Solve Berlin Problem

U.S. Delegation Holds Closed Session To Plan Strategy for Today's Parley

PARIS, June 6 (AP). — The Big Four Foreign Ministers tonight ended a series of secret meetings on the Berlin question with complete failure to break the East-West deadlock in the German capital.

The Foreign Ministers thus covered half the agenda of the conference that began two weeks ago without being able to agree on a single important point.

The United States delegation held a closed meeting after today's fruitless session to plan the strategy for tomorrow. Then the ministers will resume "open" sessions. These are sessions at which official observers report the debates to the press.

TO EXPLAIN STANDS

It is expected the ministers will give brief explanations tomorrow of the positions on Berlin which they set forth in the three secret sessions, and then turn to the third point of the agenda—a German peace treaty.

Inasmuch as East and West have failed to agree either on the unity of German or Berlin—something which would have to precede any peace treaty—there is no prospect of a settlement on this third point either.

The English text of the official communique given out at the end of today's session said:

"The Foreign Ministers, with Foreign Minister Schuman presiding, continued in closed session their consideration of the proposals of the United States and the Soviet Union relative to Berlin. The next meeting will be June 7. It will be an open session beginning at 3.30 p.m."

It mentioned no agreement.

American sources said yesterday that the secret session was called today for the special purpose of giving Foreign Minister Vishinsky a chance to come up with a compromise proposal from Moscow if Moscow had one, after his Saturday night dinner conversation with State Secretary Acheson.

At this conversation, it was reported, Acheson made it plain that the West is standing firm on its proposals. These were to limit veto powers in a revived four-power Kommandatura to govern Berlin, and to give definite administrative powers to an all-Berlin German government which would be chosen in elections supervised by all four powers.

French sources said the breakdown on Berlin came on the veto question. Vishinsky sought to retain all the veto powers which were used in the past to smash four-power rule in Berlin.

U.S. Senate Committee Approves Atlantic Pact

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP).—The 12-power North Atlantic Pact, under which an attack on one member would be regarded as an attack on all, today won the unanimous approval of the United States Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Chairman Tom Connally (Dem., Texas) said the committee's action "will have a tremendously beneficial effect on the world situation." He predicted the Senate will ratify the alliance overwhelmingly. Canada, Britain and Belgium already have ratified the pact.

VOTE UNANIMOUS

The committee's 13-to-0 vote for the treaty came on the fifth anniversary of the Allies' D-Day assault on Europe, and as State Secretary Acheson was in Paris for the Foreign Ministers' Conference.

Connally beamed happily as he announced his committee had given unanimous approval to the pact and to the report recommending its ratification. For several years the bi-partisan committee has had an unbroken record of unanimity.

Connally said the report has not been printed and will not be made public until tomorrow. The principal problem in reaching complete agreement on the report centred about the interpretation to be given Article Five.

ATTACK CLAUSE

That is the article which binds each member to regard an attack on any one of them in Europe or North America as an attack on all, and to take such action as each deems necessary, "including the use of armed forces" to restore and maintain the security of the area.

Senator Walter George (Dem., Ga.), a committee member who had expressed concern about this provision, said he is satisfied that under it the President of the United States cannot declare war nor "employ troops to enforce any particular action aimed at certain European countries without Congressional approval."

Churchill Assails Bevan For "Civil War" Threat

WESTERHAM, Kent, England, June 6 (CP).—Winston Churchill today accused Health Minister Aneurin Bevan of threatening "civil war and a blood bath" if the Conservative party is returned to power in Britain.

Addressing a mass meeting Sunday in Blackpool on the eve of the Labor party's annual conference, the fiery Bevan, who often crosses swords with the Opposition leader in Parliament, said:

"If there is a Tory majority in the next election, (Britain) will have said the road to progress by means of democratic government is closed . . . all the roads are closed except the roads to tyranny and oppression . . . except the roads to civil war."

FORMAL STATEMENT

Churchill, in a formal statement issued at Chartwell, his country home, called on "the Prime Minister and the Lord President of the Council to repudiate this assault upon democratic government."

Churchill rarely issues a formal statement to comment on public events.

The wartime Prime Minister and Conservative leader, referring to newspaper accounts of the Blackpool meeting, also denied using words ascribed to him by Herbert Morrison, Lord President of the Council and deputy prime minister.

DENIES SPEECH

Churchill said that, according to a press report, Morrison accused him of saying:

"It would be a bright tactical experiment on the eve of the general election for the Labor party to start up a whole series of industrial strikes for the purpose of preventing a Conservative government being returned."

"I have never uttered these words," Churchill stated.

Commenting on Bevan's remarks, Churchill said:

"Here is no case of threatening labor unrest. Civil war and a blood bath are threatened by one of the most powerful ministers in the Government if a Conservative government is returned at a general election. These threats show a complete ignorance of the character of the British nation which prizes representative government and parliamentary institutions and accepts, however much it may regret them, the decisions of the electorate."

Labor Party Members Approve Action in Ousting Two M.P.'s

BLACKPOOL, England, June 6 (CP).—The action of the Labor Party high command in expelling two left-wing Members of Parliament was decisively upheld today at the opening session of the party's 48th annual conference.

The party membership voted [illegible] 714,000 in favor of the national executive's decision to cast out of the party Konni Zilliacus, member for Gateshead, and Leslie Solley, member for Thurrock.

STRONG SUPPORT

The national executive received strong support from the trade unions.

Endorsement of the executive's action taken May 18 highlighted the first day of the five-day meeting which has drawn 1,486 delegates to this breezy, bustling seaside resort.

In another important action, the conference decided to hold its fire on the proposal for increasing workers' participation in control of nationalized industries.

James Griffiths, chairman of the conference, asked delegates to leave the issue in abeyance pending the outcome of discussions now in progress between the Trades Union Congress and the Labor executive on the whole question of nationalized industries.

J B Figgins leader of the National Union of Railwaymen, reluctantly agreed to withdraw the worker-participation resolution.

Other speakers complained that managerial appointments mostly fell to "the old bosses" and retired military officers.

Several speakers urged that the [illegible] regain the evangelical fervor that won the 1945 election.

Doctors Hold Empire Parley

SASKATOON, June 6 (CP).—Physicians and surgeons from ten Commonwealth countries will be given a complete picture of the Canadian medical scene at a three-day conference beginning here tomorrow.

The historic gathering will mark the first annual meeting of the British Commonwealth Medical Conference, organized in London England, last September. Delegates will come from Australia, Canada, Ceylon, Eire, Great Britain, India, New Zealand, Pakistan, South Africa and Southern Rhodesia.

With the exception of a luncheon address by Dr Charles Hill, secretary of the British Medical Association, all speakers will be Canadian medical men. Lengthy discussion periods are scheduled to give Commonwealth doctors an opportunity to learn about medical education and service in Canada.

Medical men are confident that one of the outgrowths of this conference will be increased post-graduate exchange.

Warns Legions Of Ideologies From Abroad

PORT WILLIAM, June 6 (CP).—Delegates to the 14th convention of the Manitoba and Northwestern Ontario Command of the Canadian Legion were warned today to guard against "a group of parasites who preach the imported ideologies of Marxism and Stalinism."

The warning was raised in an address by E. S. Evans, president of the Ontario Command, and second vice-president of the Dominion Command of the Legion, at the opening session of the convention.

He urged the delegates to strive "by all proper means to achieve a lasting peace, first among ourselves and then among the nations of the world that our record might be read in the blood-red letters of service."

Mr Evans exhorted the convention to "continue to do all possible to maintain the rights of all who served in the forces, especially those who were handicapped. These things are foremost on our program."

Postpone Trial On Tax Issue

NEW YORK, June 6 (AP).—Trial of a former French Ambassador's widow and her son, charged with failing to pay $2,183,347.67 income tax on a 1930 newspaper sale, was postponed today to July 6.

The defendants are Mrs. Eleanor Patenotre, 78, and her son, Raymond, 48, seven times a French cabinet minister.

They were indicted a year ago for alleged non-payment of taxes on a net income of $8,760,108.27 from the $10,500,000 sale of their controlling interest in The Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Government charges the sale was made in Montreal to the Curtis-Martin newspaper interests of Philadelphia.

Food-Conscious Britons Now Country Fair Fans

LONDON, June 6 (CP).—Britain's battle to produce more food has brought boom times to home agriculture—and a great popular lift to county fairs.

All manner of people flocked to a show at Ashton Park, near Bristol, to see in the flesh the animals that hold promise of a bigger meat ration or more plentiful supplies of milk, butter and cheese.

There were land owners, farmers, market gardeners—the growing community of those who have acquired an acre or two and have gone into food production in a small way—and plain country dwellers who traditionally pay a call when the fair is on.

They watched herdsmen parade around the ring the thick-set beef animals, the 11 breeds of graceful dairy cattle and the scrubbed bacon hogs. They looked over the 15 breeds of sheep and plodded through the farm layout where the Agriculture Ministry is demonstrating how to grow better grass.

PLENTY OF BEEF

They watched stockman Sidney Downes groom his two-ton Hereford bull, Free Town Bystander, prior to leading him into the judging ring.

"He would make a week's ration for a small town," Downes told them.

Guernseys, the "Golden Butter" breed, vied with Jerseys and Ayrshires in dairy cattle classes. Canadian-born Lord Beaverbrook won a third prize with an Ayrshire heifer.

There were goats in the show too. Their milk is used for ice cream as well as for cheese and for medicinal purposes.

At the older pavilion the crowds sampled the best products of the West Country's presses, while outside young farmhands demonstrated a gasoline-operated sheep-shearing machine.

Then an old-time shepherd wagered one of the youngsters that with his hand shears he would do a better job than the mechanical clippers. They went to it. Both had the fleece off in the same time—eight minutes.

Freak Fire Threat To Shipping Mill

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., June 6 (CP).—Firemen tonight extinguished a freak blaze that broke out in a wooden box covering a fire hydrant and threatened a shipping mill. The blaze was brought under control before serious damage could be done.

Hits Shortage Of Dentists

SASKATOON, June 6 (CP).—There are too few dentists to supply the increasing public demand for better services in this field, Dr. A. E. Chegwin said today.

He addressed delegates to the convention of the Canadian Dental Association here. Dr. Chegwin is director of the Saskatchewan Health Department's dental health division.

He suggested the profession might well follow his slogan: "All the teeth in health through life for every person," and urged his colleagues to rededicate themselves to the responsibilities of public service and to support Government moves to expand dental services.

Remove Curbs On Imports To Aid U.K.

OTTAWA, June 6 (CP).—The Finance Department Sunday announced removal of import barriers from a number of secondary items, principally to help boost United Kingdom exports to Canada.

Although open general permits on the items — ranging from fountain pens to photograph frames — will be granted to all non-dollar countries, the added imports are expected to increase United Kingdom sales in Canada by about $1,500,000 a year.

The new import decontrols become effective next July 1. They are not expected to increase expenditures of "hard"—dollar—currency in the United States dollar area, since importers from this area still will have to stick to the amount of their quotas.

It will mean, however, that importers, working under quota will have a wider variety of items from which to choose.

The items include such things as perfumes, flatware, small household appliances, vases, desk sets and paper products, all of which the United Kingdom is understood to be ready to ship to Canada in varying quantities.

Canada Given Right to Extend Air Services Deep Into U.S.

OTTAWA, June 6 (CP).—A new bilateral air agreement between Canada and the United States was signed here Saturday.

The agreement, made public by the External Affairs Department, gives Canada the right to extend her air services deep into United States territory. A similar announcement was made in Washington.

Under the agreement, which supersedes a bilateral pact made in 1946, Canada will be able to increase her international air service by:

1. A U.S. concession letting her drop off and pick up passengers and freight at Tampa, Fla., on flights from the Dominion to the Caribbean area.

USE OF AIRPORT

2. Use of the U.S. airport at Honolulu, Hawaii, for the same purpose on Canadian flights to Australia and New Zealand.

3. Establishment of a direct air route from Montreal to New York to parallel an existing similar U.S. service.

4. Use of two U.S. military bases in Newfoundland—Stephenville and Argentia—for civil aircraft. Stephenville will be used as an international airport and for Canadian domestic service. Argentia will be used as an alternate landing field for Canadian service when St John's Torbay field becomes unuseable.

In turn, the U.S. gained these concessions from Canada.

GANDER RIGHTS

1. Right to pick up and drop off passengers at Gander, Newfoundland, on trans-Atlantic hops.

2. Similar use of the Canadian airport at Edmonton on flights to Alaska and the Orient.

3. Establishment of a direct route from New York to Toronto, to replace the existing route from Buffalo, N.Y., to the Ontario capital. This parallels the Canadian route from Toronto.

4. Establishment of a route from Great Falls, Montana, to Edmonton, an extension of the existing route from Great Falls to Lethbridge.

Both countries, said the department, expressed satisfaction with the new agreement. It will mean increased competition between U.S. and Canadian carriers.

The new agreement comes into effect immediately.

Staff Courses Slated for 54

OTTAWA, June 6.—Fifty-four Canadian Army officers have been selected to attend the forthcoming staff courses at the Canadian Army Staff College, Kingston, Ont., the Staff College at Camberley, England, and the Staff College at Queenscliffe, Australia, Army Headquarters has announced. The next course at Kingston starts January, 1950.

In addition to those selected for the forthcoming courses, 23 officers also passed the recent qualifying examinations and their names have been placed on the Staff College recommended list for future courses.

Major O. R. Hale D.S.O., R.C.A.C., of Barrie, Ont., is the officer nominated to attend the Australian college. Going to England next year for the Camberley course will be Major N. W. Reilander, R.C.A., Shilo, Man., Major H. A. Snelgrove, R.C.I.C., Calgary, Alta., and Major J. S. Usher, R.C.A.C., Barrie, Ont.

Lack of American Dollars Cuts Victoria's Food Imports

Shortage of American dollars is again restricting import of United States foodstuffs, into Victoria, at least.

Local wholesalers say that they have just about used up their quota of American monies on the rationed foodstuffs. [illegible] new potatoes. The shortage condition will exist until the new quotas are set after June 30.

A shipment of grapefruit from Honduras due to arrive today or tomorrow will ease the grapefruit shortage to some extent.

Australian grapes, which appeared recently on the local market are just about finished, dealers say, with no more due this year.

Local hothouse tomatoes and cucumber are reported in good supply. Strawberries are also reaching the local market in quantity and prices are expected to go down a little this week.

Wholesalers emphasize that the U.S. dollar shortage does not effect such commodities as tomatoes, celery, lettuce, cabbage and carrots, all of which are "ration" free.

Caught Looting House, Cat Burglar Gets Away

The large home of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert A. Wallace, 3175 Beach Drive, almost proved to be the downfall of Victoria's sneaky cat burglar early Sunday morning when the Wallace's 22-year-old son, Stewart, caught him in the act of ransacking the house.

Making his first appearance for several months, the burglar is believed to have gained entrance through a front door left unlocked for the younger Wallace. Arriving home about 2:30 a.m., Stewart felt the door slightly ajar, and on forcing it open observed a dark form holding a flashlight.

DASHES FOR THE DOOR

On Stewart's demands for the man's identification, the burglar made a dash for the front door, only to be tripped neatly by the younger Wallace. The intruder, however, regained his feet and ran out of the house. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace, and their daughter, Shirley, who had slept throughout, were awakened by the burglar's fall.

A widespread search by Oak Bay Police failed to locate the cat burglar, who in his rush to escape dropped a pair of binoculars he had stolen from the house and a flashlight. No fingerprints were found.

The burglar apparently had entered several of the rooms in the house before being disturbed by the younger Wallace. A large dog was asleep near the Wallaces' bed, a fact which is believed to have scared the intruder away from the bedroom.

Motorcyclist Injured in Collision With Small Car

Thomas Clegg, 1871 Neil Street, is in Royal Jubilee Hospital suffering from face and knee injuries received in accident, pictured above, at intersection of Richmond Road and Townley Street yesterday afternoon. His condition is good. According to Saanich and city police, who both attended, car driven north on Richmond Road by Norman B. Sallis, H.M.C.S. Ontario, was making U-turn at intersection when Clegg, riding motorcycle, was in broadside collision with small English car. Constable Aldon Appleton is seen inspecting damage to car door. Sallis was taken into custody by Sgt. Jack Hamilton and charged with dangerous driving. He was later released in custody of his commanding officer.

Injuries in Truck Mishap Prove Fatal to Boy, Ten

TREVOR SHORT

Trevor Short, ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Short, 3090 Albany Street, died Sunday morning in Royal Jubilee Hospital after a truck accident on Muir Creek Hill on the Jordan River Road Saturday night.

The Burnside School pupil became the district's fourth traffic fatality of this year.

He died from a fractured skull and brain injuries, according to hospital authorities.

Trevor was riding with his brother in the back of his father's pickup truck about ten miles west of Sooke when the accident occurred. The truck struck a gravelled shoulder in the road and turned over, throwing the two boys out.

A total of six persons received injuries of varying degree in the accident. The hill has been the scene of numerous other accidents in recent years.

Coroner E. C. Hart has ordered an inquest for Thursday at 10:30 a.m. at Sands Mortuary.

Fashion Fad May Be Set By Tourists

Local clothing merchants can expect an influx of single-minded buyers from Sioux Falls, Iowa, any day now.

Because two youthful tourists are going back to that city sporting "Scotch" caps in loud plaid complete with colored "toorie."

The Sioux Falls visitors said that they had bought the tasseled caps in a local store under the impression that they were "rig of the day" for Victoria youths.

But they had begun to have doubts because "everybody on the street stared."

The caps suited them, however, and they were still bravely wearing them when last seen.

Their final decision was to take the caps back to Sioux Falls as the latest in fashionable gear for young America.

Martha Logan's Swiftning COLUMN

OFTEN you want a pie for dessert, but you simply haven't the time to start in and make first the pastry, then the filling. Save time! Keep a supply of pastry mix in your refrigerator, and be prepared for flaky, digestible, nutritious pastry at a moment's notice!

Swiftning Pastry Mix
Yield: About 10 cups
1 pound (2¼ cups) Swift'ning
7 cups sifted flour
1 tablespoon salt (3 teaspoons)

Sift flour with salt. Cut in quick mixing Swift'ning, using a pastry blender, fork, two knives, or the finger tips, until the mixture is the consistency of coarse cornmeal. Store in a covered container in the refrigerator. For one 9-inch deep pie crust, use 1 cup Pastry Mix and about 2 tablespoons water. Sprinkle water over flour mixture gradually, blending to form a stiff dough. Shape into a ball. Turn onto lightly floured board. Knead twice to blend thoroughly. Roll out lightly from centre to edges, keeping circular shape. Roll out to fit pan. Prick the crust thoroughly. Bake. For two 8-inch deep pie crusts use 2½ cups Pastry Mix and 4-6 tablespoons water.

Five Years After the Landing in Normandy

FIVE years ago yesterday, the Allies breached the Western wall of Hitler's "Fortress Europe," the beginning of the end for that mad dream of world conquest. May there never be another. If the Allies have quarreled since over the results of victory, if nations have surrendered once more to extreme nationalism, if a "we" and a "they" have come again into the world through the failure of human wits, it is not the fault of the men and women who served in defence of human liberty. Their offering was sincere, heart-whole.

One thinks at this time of the unknown millions who served in the world's armies of freedom. They certainly had no private axes to grind. They laid aside their lives, their freedom, their youth and their dreams to work for the emancipation of the human race. How bitterly events since may have disappointed them, they have for the most part kept to themselves. Once before it happened, at the conclusion of the war of 1914-18, and in much the same way. Yet it has not been all loss for the veterans. Something has remained.

In each one's life the knowledge of that service stands as a proved and enduring thing. Here for a time was service above self, service which stands as a bright example before the changing generations. Self-control, self-reliance, the ability to accept what life has to offer without whining, these are qualities which reinforce human character, pattern it more closely on what an individual should be. That is the world's gain.

Doukhobor Confessions Complicate Issue

CONFESSED Doukhobor arsonists in the Interior of the Province have placed law enforcement authorities in a serious predicament by what appears to be a cunningly thought out piece of strategy—trickery might be closer to the mark. Far from aiding a settlement of the disturbances in the Kootenay district, the confessions reported to have been signed by 400 of the Doukhobor fanatics make the situation more complicated than ever.

On the face of it, it looks as if these confessions en masse to the burning of property valued at $385,000, have been signed for the deliberate purpose of embarrassing the Crown and nullifying the prosecution of three men already held on charges of arson. It is one thing to sentence a handful of ringleaders as an example, but something totally different when 400 others all confess to the same crime. If these 400 are put on trial and presumably jailed, who is to look after their homes and families? On the other hand can the Crown afford to ignore the 400 confessions, and if it did so, could it then in justice proceed with the trial of the men now held?

Those responsible for this latest development in the Doukhobor disorders probably are banking on reluctance on the part of the Attorney-General's Department to proceed against so large a number. If that is so, they should not be allowed to succeed in any such attempt to frustrate the Crown and impede the process of the law. Fifteen years ago the Provincial authorities dealt with uprisings in the Interior by moving more than 500 Doukhobors to Piers Island, where they were held for several years. It was a bold step, but it brought peace to the Kootenay country for a longer period than at any other time since the Doukhobors first came to Canada half a century ago.

Spinning the Tall Tales—For What?

ONE wonders who it is that Moscow hopes to delude when it keeps on claiming authorship of inventions long since credited by mutual international consent to their rightful originators. Everything from bicycling to flying almost has all of a sudden been found to have had its beginning in the wit of some Russian never heard of before. Just last week another unknown genius came to light, a man called Glinkov, whom Moscow says invented the flax-spinning loom.

Certainly in the West there will be little dispute about who is spinning the tall tales, but even isolationist Russians must surely suspect this sudden splurge of back-dated inventive skill. Either the populace of the Soviet Union suffers from a massive inferiority complex that has to be cured by all means, including deceit, or else three decades of totalitarian rule has made them so gullible they will swallow anything no matter how preposterous. Otherwise there would seem to be no point at all in this queer obsession with invention credits.

Since the Politburo is presumably composed of intelligent and capable men they must know that to the rest of the world these pretensions are so naive as to be deserving of little else than sarcastic guffaws. It is perhaps illuminating that the Western world does not even laugh about such claims any more, so used as it become to the strange thought processes of the Kremlin. It is significant that a world power finds it necessary for one reason or another to bolster its prestige at home by such absurd vanities.

BUS TARIFF

Sir,—Any more raising of bus fares in Victoria will cause a citizens' strike. Those who use the buses will refuse to go to their business or employment. We will refuse to walk to our employment or business, nor will we accept rides. It will be a stay-at-home strike against exploitation.

COMMUNITY CHEST

Sir,—While Victoria's excellent May 24 parade is still fresh in the minds of its citizens, and we, the Community Chest, are still receiving compliments from all and sundry for the excellence of the Community Chest float, we feel it most appropriate at this juncture to inform the public that were it not for the kindness of various organizations and firms in this city in donating both labor and materials to complete the float, our entry in the parade would have been impossible.

The float itself was an excellent example of co-operative achievement, and if such spirit as exemplified above can be imbued and maintained throughout the whole of Greater Victoria, in that they realize that

> "All are needed by each one;
> Nothing is fair or good alone,"

I would not be unduly optimistic in stating my belief that this coming Community Chest campaign will be a successful one, and that Victoria will not only be made bright by its gardens and flowers, but by the practical demonstration of goodwill and fellowship by its citizens.

THE HUMAN BRAIN

Sir,—If eight per cent of the people of the United States are suffering from mental breakdown; to what cause would your correspondent ascribe the fact that in Great Britain, after the last war, despite the terrific strain they had been under, the number of cases of neurosis (and that to the mystification of the medical faculty) was just about normal. Also, that notwithstanding the austerity conditions prevailing throughout the British Isles, never was the national health more satisfactory.

Biology does not come into the picture at all. The problem is entirely pathological.

The well-known law of natural selection—survival of the fittest—seems to be at work. Ten millions out of 120,000,000 have been proved incapable of adapting themselves to a new environment created by two great wars, not having the necessary stamina to stand up to the tempo of life in the United States.

To arrive at a really satisfactory conclusion, these figures would require breaking up and careful analyzing. It would have to be determined what proportion of these mental invalids are dwellers and workers in the cities and large towns, as well as the kind of work they have been doing, as compared with workers in the open air—farmers, lumberjacks, forestry employees, cowboys, etc. In addition to this, similar statistics should be obtained from other countries—Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, etc.—to arrive with any degree of precision at a comparative estimate on scientific lines.

Beyond providing the most expert hospitalization for the treatment of these unfortunate people, governments are quite powerless in the matter. No government on earth can regiment a way of life outside totalitarianism.

It will not need ten generations (300 years) to determine whether there will evolve a race able to stand up to a tempo which, far from being static, is likely to increase in intensity, year by year.

So, far from the macrocosmic—universal—brain showing signs of deterioration, it may well be that, by the exercise of that brain power exemplified by the enormous strides scientists are making in every branch of human endeavor, Man, by reason of his own inventions, may succeed eventually in destroying himself.

ARTHUR WARREN.

To a Skylark

Hail to thee, blithe Spirit!
Bird thou never wert,
That from Heaven, or near it,
Pourest thy full heart
In profuse strains of unpremeditated art

Higher and still and higher
From the earth thou springest
Like a cloud of fire;
The blue deep thou wingest,
And singing still dost soar, and soaring ever singest.

In the golden lightning
Of the sunken sun,
O'er which clouds are bright'ning,
Thou dost float and run;
Like an unbodied joy whose race is just begun . .

Thinking Aloud

". . . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

THE sun shone brightly as it has been doing without letup of late as I leaned on the Causeway wall, looking lazily over the Inner Harbor. All along that 742-foot rampart, men, women and children were slumped in a similar statuesque pose. Some males assume it to the exclusion of all else, apparently, for they are to be seen there every day.

When there are ships to see water is always attractive, and the harbor never looked more enticing so long as one did not glance too steeply down, for it was low tide, and mud and the flotsam of the sea are not as pretty at close hand as painters make them seem on canvas. Waterfronts are invariably drab places, however, and Victoria is fortunate that its inner basin has the pleasing background it has, even allowing that one side could stand a face-lifting.

For a port of call the scene was strangely quiescent, as though the handmaidens of commerce were impelled to conform with the gracious legend of Victoria. Over on the industrial reserve the chimneys smoked delicately, with none of the rush of more vulgar stacks. In the blue sky above a plane droned ahead of a drogue, the target of white puffs that spread themselves so nonchalantly they must have known it was all in fun. The gulls wheeled without a murmur. In the distance the Sooke hills formed their immemorial immobile backdrop.

* * *

Even the Marguerite, about to sail for the turgid atmosphere of Vancouver, muted her warning blast in deference to placidity. Her whistle sounded once and once only, before her iron prow withdrew from near contact with the wooden hull of the Motor Princess. The backward departure of this new queen of the Georgia Straits seemed a tribute to the older matriarch of these inland seas.

Behind me, as I knew without turning round, a mass of vine cast an age-old veneer on twentieth-century stonework. On my left the turreted Legislative pile rose grandly from a mist of piped spray to the apex that supports Captain Vancouver. I found myself comparing its enduring ornamental architecture with the sleek structures that face it across the bay. Streamlined art, while admirably functional, has a superficial look. The north and the south banks of James Bay certainly represent different ideologies.

* * *

With the Marguerite gone most of my fellow Causeway loungers melted out of sight. I lingered on. I had never known the harbor so silent; I almost thought it was 3 a.m. and the sun by some alchemy substituting for the moon. The Black Ball ramp was deserted. Not a single floating thing moved. Round the Bapco bend, perhaps, were tugs and pleasure craft heading fussily for home, but for the present all was still. If road traffic rumbled behind my back it was on muffled tires or I was lost in contemplation. I did not hear it.

Young Queen Victoria stared stonily from her pedestal, made diminutive by the tall-pointed redwood separating her from the Douglas obelisk. The green strips of the parliamentary lawn lay waiting, as usual, for the next round of admiring tourists. The tally-hos were about their lawful occasions and so no raucous invitations broke the serenity.

I should have been back at the office writing this column, but I was loath to tear myself away. Perhaps not again would I view the Inner Harbor in just so pensive a mood. The waters of the bay, muddied though they were, caught and held my imagination, for they stretched beyond my ken to connect with all of the world's great oceans, and I could read in them the long and storied history of men who go down to the sea in ships. That is the magic of the harbor, any harbor—ships. And even if at this brief moment the only evidence of them was a long line of bedded C.P.R. funnels, I was content.

Socialization and Socialism

By DANIEL McLELLAN, M.D.
VANCOUVER

MANY people do not understand the difference between socialization and Socialism. There is as great a difference between socialization within the framework of democracy and Socialism as there is between mushrooms and toad-stools. They look so much alike as to be mistaken for one another, but one is good wholesome food, the other a deadly poison.

Every advance in social legislation is hailed by the Socialists and Communists as a step towards Socialism or eventual Communism, while the conservatives in both the Progressive Conservative and Liberal camps shudder at the thought of approaching Socialism. The truth is that sensible socialization within the framework of democracy is the greatest bulwark against Socialism. We receive the benefits of socialization and still retain our individual liberty. We socialise what should be socialised, consolidating step by step, always jealously guarding our individual freedom of action. It is the banding together of free men in a common cause for the mutual benefit of all. The conservative-minded think we go too fast; the C.C.F.'er thinks we go too slow, but the middle course is the best.

For example: Our postal service is socialized. Instead of each one hiring his own courier, you can send a letter to Chilliwack, Washington or London for 4 cents, with no interference with your personal freedom. You can say what you like in your letter, provided you do not use the mails to defraud.

Our police system is socialised, as is our fire department and our water supply. Instead of each one having his old red pump, with the risk of contaminated water, we obtain our pure water from the lake in the mountains. You can take a bath as often as you like; you can drink all the water you want; you can water your lawn to your heart's content. But, if the water gets low, in the interests of all, you are restricted to certain hours of sprinkling. "Ah," but the Socialist will say, "that is interfering with your personal freedom." Of course it is. The only one with a near approach to complete freedom is the hermit, and even he hasn't got it. Your freedom does not allow you to run against the red light, but you may live longer to enjoy it.

Even democracy can be run into the ground, as in that great country to the south of us, where they elect their judges and in some places even chiefs of police, and where a thug in control of votes can say to a judge: "Be a good boy, or lose your job at next election."

While there may be a difference in method, there is no fundamental difference between Communism and Socialism. The Communist is simply a left-wing Socialist; the Socialist, a pink Communist. Karl Marx is the patron saint of both. Members of the same family, they quarrel among themselves and kick one another out of the house. The Socialists are at present ousting the Communists—or trying to — but it is a Frankenstein they cannot control.

The C.C.F.'er is under the delusion that under Socialism he would obtain all the benefits of socialization and still retain all the freedom, rights and privileges he now enjoys under democracy. But he wouldn't. Every time a Communist gets into a jam, he hollers loudly for his rights under democracy—rights which he would not have under Communism. Under Communism he would have only one right, to do as he was told without question.

Out-and-out Socialism or Communism, without a dictator, is an utter impossibility whether that dictator be one man or a group of men. That may be acceptable in countries where people can be herded. It is possibly the best form of government for Russia at the present time but among freedom-loving Canadians it has no place whatever.

Curbing "Pension Widows"

(From The Edmonton Journal)

A COMMITTEE of the British House of Commons has drawn a good deal of criticism on itself for a change it has proposed in laws relating to civil servants' pensions.

Under its suggested amendment, the pension payable to a retired civil servant will not be continued to his widow if she married him within a year of his decease and if he foresaw his approaching death at the time of his marriage.

The provision is apparently something new in British pension legislation, and the committee has been charged with "adding new terrors to matrimony." However, a similar rule has been in the Canadian Pensions Act for thirty years. It provides that no pension shall be payable to the widow of a pensioner unless the Board of Pension Commissioners is satisfied the marriage had taken place "a reasonable time" before the pensioner's death.

Such regulations have an extremely practical purpose. They are designed to prevent the appearance of a class of "pension widows" — unscrupulous women who marry aged or ailing civil or military pensioners in the hope of speedily inheriting their pensions.

Women of this type were particularly active after some of the older wars. It can be easily understood that when a young woman has married an aged veteran, perhaps forty or fifty years after his military service ended, the treasury of the country may find itself paying pensions long after the war has passed into remote history.

The American Civil War, for example, ended almost ninety years ago, yet the United States Government is still paying pensions to some smart ladies who married aged ex-soldiers of the Union Army. Indeed it is only a few years ago that the last widow of a veteran of the War of 1812 ceased to draw her monthly cheque.

If the suggestion of the parliamentary committee is adopted, the British taxpayers will be spared the necessity of paying pensions to the widows of Sir Stafford Cripps' austerity corps far into the 21st century.

THE following statement was issued by J. Muir, vice-president and general manager of the Royal Bank of Canada: "This is a year when Canadians exercise one of the greatest privileges of democracy, the right to vote. On June 27 we have the opportunity to elect a new House of Commons. The men we choose will be our constitutional leaders in domestic and foreign affairs. Great responsibility will rest upon them. Their responsibility is first of all our responsibility, because we choose them. Democracy is a form of government for free and upright people, who take pride in governing themselves, and who do govern themselves. Let us not default our democratic right and duty. As a fellow citizen of this grand country, I urge that every Canadian should use his vote" . . . From The Ottawa Journal: "If you develop a country's resources, give free rein to initiative and enterprise, and heighten general prosperity, a lower tax rate will bring much more than a higher tax rate can bring when a country is not prosperous. In other words, the total tax yield of a country does not depend on the tax scale, but on the condition of what and who are being taxed" . . . A group of British scientists is conducting intensive research at London in an attempt to save labor in house work, particularly reaching and bending. They found the temperature of a room has a lot to do with fatigue, and certain colors of wallpaper can make a woman feel tired . . . Business is sensitive. It comes when it is solicited. It stays where it is well treated . . . The end of the Berlin blockade let food into Germany, but the Moscow blockade still keeps information out of Russia . . . The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

THERE is a type of eater — more noticeable amongst the women than the men—who doesn't seem able to decide what to have for lunch.

When they sit down at the restaurant table, they stare intently about them, not at their neighbors, but at the plates from which they neighbors are eating. They are hoping for suggestions.

When they enter the restaurant, they spot a table as far off as possible, and while wending their way to it, slowly pass by each table, anxiously inspecting the various dishes spread before the other customers.

Taking as much time as possible while removing their light coats and disposing of their purses, they stand covertly reviewing everything everybody else is having for lunch at the adjoining tables.

But it is of little help. They sit down. They pick up the menu card doubtfully. They read it over, with an air of great hesitation. They turn the menu card over. It is blank. Pulling themselves together, they go to work and read the thing all over again.

With a desperate air, they take another look all around them at the adjoining tables, even craning the neck to get a better look at the farther customers. The waitress arrives, with pencil poised. In desperation, the poor soul grips the menu card and concentrates, as if threading a needle.

When the order is given, the poor soul sits dejected, and still covertly glancing around at the food before others. When the order arrives, it is instantly evident that it is the wrong thing after all. The fork is picked up as if to dissect a frog . . .

Let the great majority of us thank Heaven for a good digestion and a made up mind.—Canada Wide Feature Service Ltd.

Monster Parade Launches Winnipeg's Celebrations

WINNIPEG, June 6 (CP) — Winnipeg's 75-year history passed in review along a three and a half-mile route for one and a half hours today as a monster parade blew the top off the Prairie metropolis' week of birthday celebrations

A comparative youngster alongside other Canadian cities, Winnipeg nevertheless burst at the seams in civic pride in showing off its wares—past and present—to more than 20,000 visitors

BIGGEST AND BEST

The parade, termed the biggest and best ever seen in this gateway to the Prairies, had just about everything There were ox-carts, jet planes, floats, bands, clowns, mounties and Indians Downtown curbs were lined for miles by spectators hours before the mammoth procession got rolling

Not the least of the attractions were the individual contributions to the parade of various national groups, all part of Winnipeg's melting pot of nationalities. Many were dressed in the costumes of their native lands, adding more color to the spectacle

To the old-timers the parade brought back many memories. For 30,000 school children it provided not only a holiday from studies but also a live illustration of their city's progress from the time the first Red River carts stopped here with the first white settlers.

LOG HOUSE REOPENED

A 98-year-old log house, first Post Office in the early Red River settlement, was reopened for business

Mayor Garnet Coulter was made honorary squadron commander of No 402 City of Winnipeg R C A F Auxiliary Squadron The backdrop was a towering birthday cake, topped by 75 electric candles and the two huge numerals.

Scores of planes from Manitoba Saskatchewan and the United States droned through the skies overhead

For anniversary-gay Winnipegers who baked birthday cakes of their own, special arrangements were made to have three tons of fresh strawberries flown in today from Victoria, B.C. A birthday cake wasn't complete without strawberries, explained one official.

Crops Parched As Ontario Without Rain

TORONTO, June 6 (CP) —Crops in southern sections of Ontario continued to parch today and weather forecasts held no promise of immediate relief from the long dry spell.

Authorities estimate that the drought is costing Ontario's agricultural industry $5,000,000 a day.

Reports from Southwestern Ontario say that section has just started to feel the affects of the hot, dry weather of the last few days and damage there is not extensive

Elsewhere, the heat and drought have combined to shrivel berries, slow progress of Spring grains and wither pasture fields

Pastures in the southwestern section of Ontario still were fairly green today but growth had slowed Hay in central and eastern areas was drying up and farmers forecast a short crop.

He learned later the word was "Nimbus," winner of the Derby.

SALEM, Ore., June 6 (AP) — A Marion County prisoner sawed at the jail bars for five hours yesterday and then dropped from a window at the feet of Sheriff Denver Young and four deputies

"After all this work, I meet you guys," said Convict Jack O'Neill Todd as he recognised the shotgun squad.

The sheriff reported he and the deputies had waited from midnight outside the window. A jailer had heard the screech of the hacksaw blade on the bars of Todd's cell.

Canadian Sure Old Tomb in St. Malo Contains Jacques Cartier's Skeleton

OTTAWA, June 6 (CP).—Gustave Lanctot, small and wiry, appears to have solved a historical riddle that has been puzzling Canadian historians for the last half-century.

It is the burial place of Jacques Cartier, famed 16th century French navigator and explorer who hammered the Cross of France into Canada's Gaspe Coast in 1534.

Dr. Lanctot, former Dominion archivist and one of Canada's top authorities on Cartier, believes he not only has found where Cartier was buried but that he has unearthed Cartier's 400-year skeleton, almost perfectly preserved in charcoal and lime.

"HELD SKULL"

"I believe I held the skull of that famous man in my hands," said Dr Lanctot on his return from the proud island city of St. Malo along the channel coast of France where the discovery was made.

Of the authenticity of his discovery, Dr Lanctot is certain. Laboratory tests now are going on in France to establish whether the bones, found imbedded in a charcoal-and-lime cake in the Cathedral of St. Malo, really are those of the French explorer.

Once identity is complete negotiations may spring up between Canada and France for the skeleton, with Canada making a strong plea for possession because of the unique cornerstone Cartier has carved for himself in Canadian history.

But France is not expected to let go of the frame without a fight and negotiations may conclude with the bones being divided equally between the two countries.

MAY END RIDDLE

Thus may end the riddle of the explorer who died of the plague 23 years after he had planted the Cross of France on the shores of the Gaspe Gulf.

Dr. Lanctot, a major in the Great War, worked partly on tradition and partly on documentary information when he began his voyage to France last January to find the whereabouts of Cartier's grave.

In St. Malo he found workmen buttressing the cathedral's foundation, weakened by fire and explosions set off by the Germans when they occupied France in the World War

With excavation permits in his pocket and an old document—a permit issued 392 years ago to bury Jacques Cartier he entered the cathedral

FOUND TOMB

"The burial permit," said Dr Lanctot, "was made out September 1, 1557—the date of the death of Jacques Cartier. With this document and local and family tradition to guide me, I was able to establish that burial was made at the foot of the Chapel of the Holy Virgin.

"The architect in charge of the work started to excavate and at a spot especially indicated, under a stone slab, was found the tomb of a man buried in lime and charcoal

"This method of burial indicated that the man must have died of a contagious disease We know Cartier died of the plague, consequently the description of burial appeared to fit the explorer.

The medical tests to see if plague bacteria had left marks on the bone may establish beyond doubt that the skeleton is that of Cartier.

Artist Lost, Wife Offers Big Reward

MONTREAL, June 6 (CP) — The Countess de Perelma said here today she is offering a $10,000 reward for information leading to the whereabouts of her husband Ossip de Perelma, world-renowned artist, who disappeared from his Miami home, May 3

She came here to check on addresses and telephone numbers of Montrealers found in notebooks left by her 72-year-old husband.

When these failed to produce any clue, she said he might be wandering about the city, suffering from amnesia. The countess said her husband loved Montreal, where he lectured at McGill University 25 years ago. He had visited the city only last Summer

MIGHT BE HELD

It was possible, she said, that he might be held against his will, because he was outspoken against the Soviet regime and had made enemies among Communists.

"If he is not suffering from amnesia, he is being involuntarily detained," she said

De Perelma's portraits are hung in museums throughout the world Among his subjects have been United States Presidents Warren Harding and Franklin D Roosevelt, King Albert of Belgium and former Premier Poincare of France.

CHINESE ARRESTED

Two young Vancouver Chinese were arrested by city detectives in Chinatown early Sunday morning and charged with carrying an automatic pistol in a car without a permit.

The pair will appear in court this morning

The arrests followed a close investigation for considerable time

Auto Workers Offer Reward In Shootings

DETROIT, June 6 (AP). — The United Automobile Workers (C I O) today offered a reward of $200,000 for information leading to the solution of the shootings of the Reuther brothers.

The reward, one of the biggest ever offered in the United States, was authorized by the union's international executive board, which met here today

The offer took the place of the $100,000 reward posted following the shooting April 20, 1948, of the union's president, Walter Reuther.

It was increased because of the shooting last month of Victor Reuther, U.A.W educational director.

Both men were critically injured in their homes by shotgun blasts from unknown assailants.

TALE OF TWO CITIES

Although he has been here only four months, W J White has found that no Winnipeger ought to feel lonely in Victoria During the time he has been in the clothing department of the W & J Wilson store on Government Street he has had 50 callers from the Manitoba capital

"Quite a few of them were customers of mine when I was in the clothing business in Winnipeg says White, who goes on to say that the outfitting in the two cities is much the same "The only difference is that the Victoria people don't have to buy the really heavy greatcoats that are necessary in the Prairie city

The tall bespectacled, athletic-looking White is a former baseball and hockey player He is looking forward to the opening of the Memorial Arena

Salvage King Racing To Rescue of Crew

Marine News

Around noon today the powerful rescue tug Salvage King, of Pacific Salvage Co., will reach Calvert Island in Queen Charlotte Sound to pick up crew members of the 502-ton lighthouse tender Alberni, which was beached there early yesterday morning.

The lighthouse tender suffered considerable damage when she [illegible] yesterday morning She was refloated and taken across Fitzhugh Sound and beached at Safety Cove, Calvert Island. The location is about 40 miles north of the tip of Vancouver Island.

The 27 seamen of the Ss Alberni are "safe and well" at Safety Cove.

The vessel was taken there under tow of the fish packers China Hat and Kiatawa from the scene of the wreck

A C Burdick manager of Pacific Salvage Co, reports the beached vessel is about 200 miles from this city. Salvage King left this port at 8 30 yesterday morning She will do between 12 and 14 knots all the way

It is assumed the damaged tender will be towed to Prince Rupert for drydocking

[illegible] lighthouse tender was injured according to a report from Prince Rupert. Captain of the ship is Joseph Peterson

The ship struck the rocks in a heavy fog

First word of the Alberni's plight was received yesterday morning by the R.C.A.F in Vancouver Communications were cut off after the first message, and it is believed the crew members were too busy getting the damaged vessel beached to send additional information.

Reports from the area indicate there was a calm sea at the time of the grounding

Mr Burdick said yesterday he would be receiving frequent progress reports after the Salvage King reaches the scene

Victoria Greets Patricia

Martial strains of the Royal Canadian Navy band filled the air, and a bright sun shone over calm waters of the Inner Harbor Sunday morning when the C P R 's new Ss. Princess Patricia made her first appearance there.

On the docks was assembled a large crowd—officers, members and friends of the Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry Association, which conducted a brief but colorful unofficial reception for the stately new coast passenger vessel.

The group was headed by its president, Brig W G. Colquhoun. Others there included Mrs. Colquhoun, Capt. George Harrison, Col. Macgregor Macintosh, Capt. A. B. Robbins, Col. R. Mitchell, Col A Hunt, Lieut.-Col. J. N. Edgar, Mrs R. McVie, and Mrs. Conway Pelly president of the association's ladies' auxiliary.

The ship—which arrived here from Scotland Friday and entered drydock for bottom painting—left the Esquimalt basin at 9 Sunday morning and was tied up at her Inner Harbor berth shortly after 10.

PLAY FROM BRIDGE

As she steamed majestically into the harbor, the music of bagpipes played by Pipe Major H Pollock and Corp A. G Allnutt filled the harbor They played from the ship's bridge

Immediately after docking, the ship was made open to the P.P.C.L.I Association members, and they were shown about the vessel by Capt George Thomson, who brought the ship to this coast

Other C.P.R personnel aboard included Capt. O J. Williams, manager of the B.C Coast Steamship Service, and Capt. J. T Hamilton, marine superintendent of the service.

In a brief address given aboard the ship Brig Colquhoun noted the new ship was named after, and launched by, Princess Patricia—now Lady Patricia Ramsay. She is the Colonel-in-Chief of the P.P.C.L.I He also paid tribute to the C.P.R for bringing to this city and to this coast "the finest steamship service to be found anywhere."

The new ship will remain in the Inner Harbor for completion of painting and other general finish work and it is hoped she will join her sister ship—Ss Princess Marguerite—in the "triangle run" service on or about June 15

FISHERMAN ADRIFT

British Columbia coast fisherman, Y Saiki, a Canadian-Japanese, will probably be spending some time getting to know more about the engine of his 30-foot fishing boat.

With his young son aboard, he left Vancouver at 1 o'clock Sunday morning and headed for fishing grounds among the Gulf Islands Three hours later his engine conked out, and the vessel drifted helplessly from 4 o'clock Sunday morning until about 8 o'clock that night.

The craft finally grounded on the southern tip of Gossip Island, near the north entrance to Active Pass. C. S Wormald, resident of nearby Galiano Island, assisted in getting the fishboat from the rocks and towed ashore to safe anchorage in Whaler's Bay, Galiano Island. There the engine was examined by Jack Morgan, also of Galiano, and the trouble was found and corrected in less than two minutes

Fund Campaign Tops $18,000, Says Director

Victoria total in the current Salvation Army campaign for funds is now more than $18,000, according to Major C. J. Milley, campaign director

Since inception of the organization some 80 years ago, the Salvation Army has been popularly known by a variety of different names

During the Great War the girls [illegible] scarlet facings were called "Salvation Army Lassies." Fighting men have not forgotten their selfless service, often carried out under fire.

WORLD WAR WORK

The Salvation Army's work during the World War far surpassed that of the previous conflict and the unit became affectionately known as the "Sally Anns." This term and the Red Shield symbol became known throughout the world.

Salvation Army officials state the term Red Shield is closely linked with the Bible. In the Book of Nahum, the Prophet declares "The shield of his mighty men is made red the valiant men are in scarlet"

Since its beginning the Salvation Army has attempted to "shield" the hungry, the weak and the downtrodden in all parts of the world, including Canada

Visitor From Ireland

The Hon. Mrs. Alan Mackay, Rathfeigh, County Meath, Ireland, and London, pictured as she arrived by plane at Patricia Bay yesterday morning. Mrs. Mackay will spend three weeks in Victoria, guest of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Learoyd, Gorge Road West. Following her return to Britain via the United States, she will go to Johannesburg, South Africa, to visit her parents.

First Major Reunion of Ex-C.W.A.C.'s Has Backing of Former Army Girls

Khaki skirts will swing once again when ex-members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps invade Toronto for their first peacetime nation-wide reunion on June 11 and 12. If the uniform doesn't fit, a brown beret with the Athena emblem worn with civilian dress will be the order of the week-end.

The welcome mat will be out in Toronto for all girls who once wore the uniform of the C.W.A.C., and the invitation to come to Ontario's capital, has been eargerly accepted by ex-army girls from every corner of Canada, and from parts of the United States.

Among the reunion highlights will be the attendance at the banquet on Saturday, June 11, of the Minister of National Defence, the Hon Brooke Claxton. After the dinner, which is being held in the Crystal Ballroom of the King Edward Hotel, guest artists, Wayne and Shuster, will provide entertainment.

The parade and march past, which takes place on Sunday, will be accompanied by the band of the Royal Canadian Regiment and the 48th Highlanders Pipe Band. The salute will be taken by a very distinguished soldier, Lieut.-General Charles Foulkes, C.B., C.B.E., D.S.O., the chief of the general staff of the Canadian Army. The service address will be given by Major the Rev. John Foote, V.C.

Sunday afternoon activities will switch to the Fiesta Room of the Prince George Hotel where a gala tea will wind up the week-end activities.

Tickets for the two-day event are going quickly, and girls who are planning to be in Toronto for June 11 and 12, to take in the reunion program, should write to C.W.A.C. Unit, 34 Gorevale Avenue, Toronto 3, Ont., for complete information.

Norma Robertson Wed at St. John's

A pretty wedding took place in the chapel of St. John's Anglican Church on Friday when Rev George Biddle officiated at the marriage of Norma Gladys Robertson, daughter of Mrs. R. Robertson, 2636 Shelbourne Street, and Mr Reginald Percival Seabrook of Langford.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr Gordon Robertson, wore an afternoon dress of mauve and rose shot silk taffeta with white accessories and corsage of gardenias and sweet peas and carried a white prayer book.

Mrs. J. H Leaver, the bride's sister, was the only attendant, and wore a gown of shot silk taffeta with matching accessories and corsage of pink rosebuds and maidenhair fern.

The groom had his brother-in-law, Mr. T. Morgan of Sidney, as best man.

A reception was held at the Strathcona Hotel and later the couple left for a wedding trip on the Mainland. The bride's going-away costume was a brown gabardine suit with matching topcoat and accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Seabrook will make their home in Victoria.

Membership Tea Planned June 17

It was announced at the recent meeting of St. Joseph's Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary that the annual membership tea would be held in the Nurses' Home on Friday, June 17. Mrs. T. Taylor was in the chair.

Mrs. Dickinson reported that sewing completed during the month included 144 sheets, 48 towels, 72 wrappers and 3,843 sponges.

It was voted to give a donation to the Children's Wing in memory of Dr. Sinclair.

Other guests were Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. W Lamb, Mrs. [illegible] Mrs. F E Gray, Mrs N [illegible] Gray, Mrs J. L. Short, Mrs R. Burkman and the Misses June Short, Velda Willie and Kay Taylor. Miss Smith was again honored when Mrs Jack Woodward and Mrs. W Lamb were co-hostesses at the home of the former's mother, Mrs R. Cruickshank, Vista Heights. Corsages were presented to the honor guest, her mother and the mother of the groom-elect. Those present were Mrs. Warren Smith, Mrs R. M Heggie, Mrs F E. Gray, Mrs. Cruickshank and the Misses Mary and Gerry Kennedy and Eva-Lind Hunter.

Edmonton Girl Married Here

At St. Michael's and All Angels Church with Rev N J Godkin officiating Miss Leslie Nora Hiles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs George Hiles, Edmonton, Alberta, exchanged marriage vows with Mr. Noel Stewart Butcher, son of Mr. and Mrs George Butcher, R.R 1, Royal Oak, B.C. The ceremony took place on the evening of May 28.

In the absence of her father, the bride was given in marriage by Mr Rex Coltman. She wore a wine suit and grey hat with a corsage of gardenias and pale yellow feathered carnations.

Mrs. Rex Coltman, the groom's sister, was the bridal attendant, and Mr. Murray Butcher, the groom's brother, was best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents on West Saanich Road. Mr. and Mrs. Butcher will make their home at 1042 Stanley Avenue, on their return from a honeymoon Up-Island.

Jean Parker Wed At Dartmouth, N.S.

A wedding of interest here took place in the Naval Chapel, H.M.C.S. Shearwater, Dartmouth, N.S., on May 14, when Jean E Parker, daughter of Mrs H. Parker, 3142 Irma Street, and the late Mr. O Parker, became the bride of P.O Howard W Shemilt, son of Mr. and Mrs H T Shemilt, 3255 Harriet Road. The Rev O Stone officiated.

The bride wore a navy blue tailored suit with white accessories and a corsage of red roses. She was given away by P.O. P Peters and was attended by Mrs W Parsons. The groom was supported by Mr W Parsons.

A reception was held at the home of Mr and Mrs W. Parsons, where Mr W. Parsons proposed the toast to the bride.

Following a honeymoon in Halifax, P.O and Mrs Shemilt are residing in Dartmouth.

Successful Party

A successful garden party was held at the home of Mrs A Hankin, Happy Valley Road, on Wednesday, under the auspices of Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute.

Flame colored rhododendrons centred the tables which were set out on the lawn.

During the afternoon a presentation was made to Mrs D Flatman by Mrs. H. Langrish, on behalf of the members. Mrs. Flatman is leaving shortly on a trip to the British Isles via the Panama.

To Visit European Youth Hostels

Colonist Photo

Miss Betty Dowding, 1054 Tattersal Drive, will leave Victoria on Wednesday for Quebec City from where she will sail aboard the Franconia on June 14 for Britain. Miss Dowding will spend the next five months with relatives in England and visiting youth hostels both in Britain and on the Continent. She will accompany Canada's delegate, Miss Sylvia Mason of Toronto, to the World Hostel conference to be held in Denmark in August.

Couple Married At Home Rites

At a quiet ceremony performed by Rev. F. R. Dredge at the home of the bride, Margaret Doreen Bradshaw, daughter of Mr. H. L. Briggs, 1750 St Ann Street, and the late Mrs. Briggs and Robert Robertson, Jr., repeated nuptial vows recently.

Red peonies and calla lilies in standard baskets made an attractive background for the service, music for which was played by Mrs. D Blott.

Given away by her father the bride was attired in a smart suit of cream flannel with scarlet accessories and a bandeau of white ostrich tips, and carried an ivory prayer book covered with gardenias and shattered red carnations and showered with white stocks.

The couple were unattended.

At the reception the health of the bride was given by Mr Max Sarynn. The bridal cake, bedded in pink tulle dotted with white carnations and lighted by white candles, centred the ecru lace-covered table.

Returning from their honeymoon, the couple will reside at 1750 St Ann Street.

St. George's Guild Party on June 15

St George's Ladies Guild annual garden party will be held on Wednesday, June 15, in the lovely grounds of Major and Mrs. D. L. McGrand, 2570 Arbutus Road.

There will be many attractions including home cooking and apron stalls and games of all descriptions to amuse both young and old.

Bus transportation passes the door.

SOUTHGATE, Middlesex, England (CP)—Folk dancing in parks is better entertainment than the movie theatre with its "love slobber and daggers," says Mayor John Barker.

Bride and Attendants Wear Gowns of Colonial Style

The graceful style of Colonial days was featured in the costumes of the bride and her attendants on Saturday afternoon when the marriage of Amy Isabel, eldest daughter of Mr and Mrs E R Sim, 500 Joffre Street, Esquimalt, to Harry Frederick "Jim" Hockey, only son of Mr and Mrs. F A. Hockey of Calgary, was solemnized by Dr. A E. Whitehouse.

The pretty bride, given away by her father, was gowned in white satin, the bodice embroidered in [illegible] long, pointed sleeves, the skirt embellished with insets of embroidered lace. Her finger-tip veil was arranged under a coronet ornamented with crystal beads. The groom's gift, a necklet of pearls, was her only jewelry, and she carried a Colonial bouquet of pink roses.

Miss Eileen McBurney, maid of honor, was gowned in pink organdy, while Miss Jean Sim and Miss Janet Sim, bridesmaids for their sister, were dresses in robin's egg blue silk. All wore Colonial bonnets to match their frocks with bows under the chin, and carried early Victorian posies.

The bridegroom had Mr. R. O "Spike" Dalziel as best man, and the ushers were Mr Kenneth Robertson and Mr. Travers Fisk.

During the signing of the register Miss Betty Townsend sang "Through the Years." Mr. Edgar Holloway was at the organ.

The reception was held at the Olde England Inn, Lampson Street. The table, decorated with pink roses and lighted by tall tapers in silver candelabra was centred by the three-tiered cake. The toast was given by Mr. F J. Merriman.

Leaving for a honeymoon trip to Portland, Oregon, the bride wore a Bermuda-blue gabardine with slim skirt and coat with unpressed pleats in the back, hat of white knitted straw trimmed with pastel flowers across the brim, navy and white accessories, and pink roses an[illegible]

Coalition Speakers Lace C.C.F. Policy, Assert Free Enterprise Best for All

Keynoted by Ald. R. K. Gervin, Vancouver, Coalition speakers in Victoria and Saanich last night laced into the C.C.F. at home in British Columbia and in Saskatchewan.

Mr. Gervin, secretary of the Vancouver, New Westminster and District Trades and Labor Council, appeared in support of Arthur Ash in Saanich and later bustled back to deliver his piece at a Coalition rally in the Knights of Pythias Hall to [illegible] cation Minister W. T. Straith and Capt. D. J. Proudfoot.

"I am going to deal with facts to prove that the free enterprise system brings greater security, greater social benefits, happiness and freedom than any other system yet developed," he declared.

BEST LIVING STANDARDS

British Columbia, Canada and the United States had the highest standard of living in the world. Socialism has failed to match it anywhere it had been tried. In fact, it could only be operated at all by regimentation and dictatorship.

The American Federation of Labor, with 8,000,000 members in the United States and Canada, he called "a powerful defender of free enterprise."

"Socialism," he said, "has nothing in common with the trade unionist. It merely wishes to use him."

He asked his audience to "take a look at the people who want to govern British Columbia," recalled that they (the C.C.F.) had opposed the Atlantic Pact and won praise in Moscow where Pravda had given them headlines.

Mrs. Hodges declared that Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan and his local adherents were trying to convince British Columbians that the C.C.F. had a monopoly on solicitude for the aged and unfortunate.

AMUSING ON RECORD

It was amusing, said Mrs Hodges, in view of the record in British Columbia—first to bring in old-age pensions, first to bring in the cost-of-living bonus, first to raise it to $10 and the only province in Canada to pay it to all pensioners. Socialist Saskatchewan, she said, still paid only $42.50 in pensions as against $50 for British Columbia.

British Columbia paid the biggest mothers' allowances, the biggest social assistance and gave free medical and hospital treatment to both pensioners and social assistance cases.

"Look at the achievements of the Coalition," declared Mrs. Hodges, "and don't be misled by pie in the sky."

Capt. O. J. Proudfoot and Mrs Straith both emphasized what the Coalition had done and planned to do for the future to ensure that industrial development would continue in British Columbia—to provide jobs and to take care of increasing population. They stressed that capital for new development would never come to British Columbia if the C.C.F. is placed in office.

[illegible]

Mr Ash pointed out that Socialists say they will pay for expanded social services from the profits of government ownership. If this was true, he said, then the picture in Saskatchewan did not give much promise. In that province, taxation from the people had been used to pay the losses on Crown-owned corporations.

A woollen mill had been established and its losses up to the end of 1948 had been $147,695 on an investment of $590,000 of "the people's money." A government shoe factory had closed down after an investment of $180,000 in public funds and losses of $63,342. A government tannery, with an investment of $175,000, closed down after losses of $63,342. A box factory expropriated by the government was also showing a loss.

Continuing on the same theme, Mr Ash concluded that the Saskatchewan Government had learned by experience that being in competitive business does not pay and in the end the public is required to pay the losses.

SEEK MORE FREEDOM

SARNIA, Ont., June 6 (CP)—The C.C.F. Party seeks to obtain more freedom for the people of Canada, Welfare Minister Sturdy of Saskatchewan said here tonight in a political address.

It has been charged, he said, that the C.C.F. party threatened freedoms of press, assembly and religion. These were traditional freedoms and were as greatly prized in Saskatchewan as anywhere else in the Dominion.

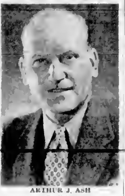
Saanich Candidates



ARTHUR J. ASH
Coalition

MARTIN NEILSON
C.C.F.

MAJOR A. H. JUKES
Union of Electors

Mr Ash, Coalition candidate, was born in Brandon, Manitoba, educated in public and high schools in Ottawa. Was elected a member of the Ottawa City Council in 1934 at the age of 28 and served until 1942, when he entered the army, first with his reserve unit, the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards and later with the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps. He served in Canada and England. He came to Victoria in 1945 and now operates a general merchandising business in Saanich. He is married and has one daughter.

ELECTED IN SAANICH

Mr. Ash was first elected to the Legislature as a Liberal-Coalitionist in the Saanich by-election, winning the seat of one-time Speaker Hon. Norman H. Whittaker, who left the House to become a Justice of the British Columbia Supreme Court.

Mr Neilson was born in Garson, Manitoba, and educated in public and high schools of the same province. He has lived in British Columbia since 1934, and since 1935 in Saanich, where he operates a bulb farm at Saanichton. He was chairman of the Saanich School Board for eight years, is a director of the Saanich Bulb Growers' Federation, has been a director of the British Columbia Bulb Growers' Federation for three years and was founding president of that organization.

He is married and has three children.

Mr Neilson was a C.C.F. candidate in Saanich in the general elections of 1941 and 1945.

MILITARY GRADUATE

Major A. H. Jukes, who holds the O.B.O. and the O.B.E., is a graduate of Royal Military College at Kingston and the Imperial Staff College, England. He served in the Great War and, in addition, saw service with the Imperial Army in Egypt and India.

He has been active in the Social Credit Party for some years. He farms in Saanich and raises mainly grapes. He is credited with the development of a black seedless grape.

In 1940 Major Jukes was a "New Democracy" candidate for Nanaimo in the general Federal elections of that year.

DREW TOURS BASE

RIVERS, Man., June 6 (CP).—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, visited the joint army-air force school here today and witnessed a demonstration of the preliminary stages of parachute training in which about 100 jumped from a practice tower.

After a tour of the base, Mr. Drew, accompanied on the visit by John Bracken, Progressive Conservative candidate for Brandon in the June 27 Federal election, lunched in the officers' mess.

POLITICAL BATTLE SHAPES

GRAND FORKS, B.C., June 6.—A journalist, a publisher and a surveyor were lined up yesterday for one of the biggest political battles this quiet Interior town has ever seen as Conservative Chief Herbert Anscomb arrived for a scheduled address.

Coalition candidate is Tom Love, newspaper correspondent and former publisher of the Grand Forks Gazette. He recently sold his interests to Stanley Orris, who has been nominated as an independent candidate. C.C.F. entry is Rupert Haggen, of Rossland, a surveyor.

The situation is further complicated by the presence of 400 Japanese-Canadians, all of whom are likely to exercise their newly acquired vote.

DREW TAKES ISSUE

MINNEDOSA, Man., June 6 (CP)—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, today took sharp issue with Justice Minister Garson on the Dominion-Provincial relations issue.

Speaking at a political rally in this town in Marquette constituency which Mr Garson represented in the last Commons, Mr. Drew recalled that the Justice Minister had challenged him to debate Dominion-Provincial relations on the same platform.

Mr. Drew said Mr. Garson was claiming that a Progressive Conservative government would do away with the present agreement between Manitoba and the Dominion.

"He knows there is not a word of truth in that statement," said Mr. Drew.

ST. LAURENT SEES CHAOS

QUEBEC, June 6 (CP).—Prime Minister St. Laurent said here tonight the Progressive Conservative Party has "practically no program but devaluation of the Canadian dollar.

"That would bring chaos to the Canadian economy in 12 months or so," he added.

Mr. St. Laurent, campaigning in his native province, spoke for almost an hour before a gathering of his own Quebec East constituents in a wartime R.C.A.F. drill hall.

CLAIMS "AGREEMENT"

WINNIPEG, June 6 (CP).—The most significant point of the forthcoming Federal election is the "working agreement of the Liberals and Progressive Conservatives in some ridings," M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. party leader, said tonight in an address broadcast over a C.B.C. national network.

Mr. Coldwell, who shared a 30-minute period of free political broadcasting time with C.C.F. vice-chairmen Mme. Therese Casgrain and Angus MacInnis, C.C.F. member for Vancouver East in the last House, said the Liberals had agreed not to put up candidates in two of British Columbia's Federal ridings, Yale and Kootenay West.

PEARSON INTERRUPTED

MONTREAL, June 6 (CP).—While the international situation will tend to ease in the days ahead, it will remain dangerous because Communist "strategy never changes," External Affairs Minister Pearson said in an address at a political rally here tonight.

Mr. Pearson's speech was interrupted for 20 minutes by a group of striking seamen whose spokesman asked the Minister why the Government "continued to act as a strikebreaker."

CLAIMS "VENGEANCE"

QUEBEC, June 6 (CP) — Paul Bouchard, Independent candidate in Bellechasse in the Federal elections, today described as an a flag that he could be proud of as a Canadian and of any other measure that would add to the adulthood of the Canadian nation.

attempt at "vengeance" Prime Minister St. Laurent's criticism of himself in a speech at Goderich, Ont., last Thursday.

(Mr St Laurent said Progressive Conservative hopes in Quebec rest upon attempts to form a "rather dubious alliance." He said Mr Bouchard had used "almost the identical language" as that published in a Progressive Conservative French-language advertisement [illegible] violent appeals to religious and racial prejudice this country has had to deplore in many a year.")

WARNS ON TRADE

MOOSE JAW, Sask., June 6 (CP) — M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, warned tonight that Canada must adopt realistic trading policies if she is going to retain her world markets.

In an address at a political meeting here, Mr Coldwell said European countries, including the United Kingdom, have found it necessary to enter into bilateral trade agreements.

SAYS TRADE DROPS

BRANDON, Man., June 6 (CP) — George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said tonight that "no amount of pretense" by Trade Minister Howe will conceal the fact that Canada is losing her overseas markets.

Canada's trade with the United Kingdom dropped $67,000,000 in the first quarter of this year and is still dropping rapidly, said Mr. Drew at a political rally here.

Crewman Knifed in Arm In Rooming House Fight

A crew member of the C.P.R.'s new vessel Princess Patricia is in Royal Jubilee Hospital suffering from a severe arm wound received when stabbed with a carving knife at 10 p.m. Sunday during a fight in a rooming-house at 50 Government Street.

He is John White, whose condition has been reported as fair. The [illegible]

Frank Forde, 35, 50 Government Street is in custody charged with assault, occasioning grievous bodily harm. He will face the charge in police court this morning. Forde's occupation is not known.

STABBING PROBED

Detectives Pearon Woodburn and Maurice Wilkinson investigated the stabbing. Constable Deans Blackstock found the carving knife outside the house.

[illegible] ambulance from a woman who would not tell her name over the phone. On arrival, police found an argument had taken place between Andrew Thomas and Forde. Police were told White had endeavored to stop the fight.

White, who was bleeding badly, was rushed to hospital by Constables James Strong and Albert Wilson.

Witnesses are Kenneth Collins, also a Princess Patricia crew member, Joseph Thomas, also of 50 Government Street, and Mrs. Frank Forde, wife of the accused.

Police reported that the trouble was the result of a lengthy drinking party.

Fire Calls Give Rigs Busy Day

The city fire department alarm room operators, Bud George and Edward Taylor, were busy yesterday afternoon.

The parade started at 3.20 p.m. with a false alarm to the 700 block Yates Street. At 4.12 p.m., firemen were called to a rubbish and grass fire at the rear of Burns & Co., Ltd., 1618 Store Street.

At 4.57 p.m., a grass and bush fire near the intersection of Johnson Street and Tyee Road required firemen's attention, and at 5.06 p.m., a similar fire was extinguished in the 300 block, Cedar Hill Road.

Final call came at 5.20 p.m. from 1040 Moss Street, the old Spencer home, where a chimney fire had started the roof burning. Damage was slight.

Headquarters was practically void of equipment during the rush.

Pleurodynia—False Pleurisy—Can Be Catching

By [illegible]

BETTER KEEP AWAY, MA!

Pleurodynia is pain in muscles of chest in which pain is like true pleurisy as it hurts the patient to breathe. However, in true pleurisy patient has chill followed by fever and patient feels sick and there is a rise in temperature. In pleurodynia the pain in chest is about the only symptom. It is the old-fashioned "muscular" rheumatism. It is communicated from one person to another. Don't worry about pleurodynia as it soon passes away.

Little Stories for Bedtime - - -

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

THE WISDOM OF MRS. GOBBLER

Everything had happened just as Reddy Fox had guessed. No sooner had he started for home in a rage after his failure to catch Mrs. Gobbler than she had made a wide circle and hurried back to the Green Meadows, where she had left her precious brood. As she hurried out from the edge of the Green Forest her eyes glistened with pride. Though she looked this way and looked that way not a sign of a young Gobbler was to be seen. It was as if she was the only living creature anywhere about. Her children had minded her absolutely.

"Quit, quit," she called softly.

Instantly twelve homely, half-grown youngsters appeared as if by magic. Swiftly she counted them. All were there. Each one had flattened himself or her self down in the grass at her alarm when Reddy Fox had first appeared and not one had moved since. Mrs. Gobbler wasted no time.

"Hurry!" she said, sharply, as she led the way back to the Green Forest. "That Fox may wake up and suspect the trick I played on him. If he does, he will be sure to come back here."

So the twelve youngsters hurried after Mrs. Gobbler as she led the way into the Green Forest; not one lagged behind. Straight to one of the safest hiding places she led them, and not until then did she breathe easily. There she told them, as she had often told them before, of the dangers that surrounded them and of the need of instant and absolute obedience. And because they had just seen for themselves how obedience had saved their lives, each resolved always, in the future, to obey absolutely. And each was filled with great admiration for their mother because of the clever way she had fooled Reddy Fox.

"This will be the last of the grasshoppers for a while anyway," said Mrs. Gobbler. "That Fox will hang around the Green Meadows most of the time now, and I wouldn't be able to fool him again that way. We must go somewhere else now for our food. You children are big enough for other food now and can eat seeds and berries and things like that. So we will keep away from the Green Meadows and hunt for our food where Reddy Fox will not be likely to look for us."

So late that afternoon, Mrs. Gobbler led her brood through the Green Forest over to the edge of the Old Pasture, where there were many seeds and berries, and to their delight the youngsters found that they could eat this food and it was quite as delicious as grasshoppers. And while Mrs. Gobbler kept watch, they filled their crops until they would hold no more.

Meanwhile, Reddy Fox was doing what wise Mrs. Gobbler had expected he would do. He had gone back to the Green Meadows and, securely hidden, was watching and hoping for the young Gobblers to appear. The next day and the next day he did the same thing. He spent most of his time hanging around the edge of the Green Meadows, sure that sooner or later Mrs. Gobbler and her brood would come back. And all the time Mrs. Gobbler was leading her children to other feeding places, never twice to the same place lest it should have been discovered by Reddy Fox.

He spent most of his time hanging around the edge of the Green Meadows

Next Story: The young Gobblers get acquainted with their father.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, June 6 (AP).—After plunging to a two-year low, the stock market dug in for a stand in the last half hour of trading.

Despite the late buying support, the market took one of the worst spills of the year. Final prices were down fractions to 6 points, and in some cases more.

Turnover amounted to 1,380,000 shares, one of the fastest sessions of [illegible] shares sold on March 30.

The Associated Press of 60 stocks dropped a full point to 59.3. Only the utility group made any sort of showing. This was the lowest since 58.7 was touched on May 20, 1947. The 1947 bottom was 56.5.

Of the 1,088 issues traded, the largest total since March 30, 815 declined, while only 85 advanced.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, June 6 (AP).—Steady selling pressure sent wheat down on the Board of Trade. Losses ranged to around 3 cents at times. Dealings became quite active, with offerings absorbed mainly by resting orders placed under the market.

Soybeans also ran into fairly brisk selling. Rye dropped a couple of cents. Corn and oats eased.

Much of the selling in wheat came from the Southwest. It was believed [illegible] expansion of the harvesting area. Texas points were reported to be offering new crop wheat loaded to Kansas City at 16 to 17 cents over the July future there.

Court Upholds Lewis' Fine

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP).—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals today upheld the contempt of court conviction of John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers (Ind.) for failure to call off a strike last year.

The court ordered the U.M.W. chief and the union to pay fines totaling $1,420,000. The fines were imposed by Judge T. Alan Goldsborough, April 20, 1948.

The fine against Lewis amounted to $20,000. The union fine was $1,400,000.

Goldsborough imposed the fines because Lewis refused to carry out a court order to halt a strike over miners' pensions.

Woman Nominated U.S. Treasurer

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP).—President Truman today nominated Mrs. Georgia Neese Clark, vivacious Richland, Kans., banker, as the first woman treasurer of the United States.

Mrs. Clark, a 49-year-old divorcee, was supported for the post by Mrs. India Edwards, head of the Women's Division of the Democratic National Committee.

Hers is the first of several expected nominations of women to high Federal office, including diplomatic posts.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

THAT WORD "ENGINE"—First Cousin to Genius

If the engine is the product of man's genius, then no object ever was more appropriately named. The words are first cousins.

The word "engine" comes from the Latin "ingenium." This is composed of the prefix "in" and the root of "gignere," to produce. It was once pronounced as "en-jeen" [illegible] natural capacity extends to that which is born in a man"—a strange way of looking at the engine, but it is how it started. For proof which it is no effort to absorb, here are some lines from Chaucer:

"A man has sapiences three, Memory, engine and intellect also."

In other words, man has memory, natural capacity or engine, and intellect!

By Shakespeare's time, the word had developed the significance of a contrivance, of anything used to effect a purpose, a device—which is included in its present meaning, even though the modern idea of an engine is something specific, namely the power mechanism of a machine such as an automobile or a locomotive.

And lest one forgets the connection of "engine" with man's "genius," the latter derives from the same source as engine, namely the Latin "gignere," to bring forth, to produce!

FORT FRANCIS, Ont. (CP).—More than 3,500 tourists came each year to see the bird sanctuary begun nine years ago by Eric Ericson, local storekeeper who came from Sweden in 1927. Among his birds are two Australian black swans, believed to be the only ones in Canada, as well as Canada geese, Egyptian, Russian and Chinese geese. Coins thrown into a wishing well pay for the sanctuary.

OVERRATED CAMEL

It is doubtful whether camels, as many suppose, can go without water for a week without great discomfort or physical danger. Two or three days is believed to be the limit.

"Suffered much with constipation"

Famous cereal helps where "remedies" failed

Are you among those who long for constipation relief? Then read this unsolicited letter:

"I tried several remedies but could not end this old trouble. One day I was told I should try KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. I began to eat this cereal regularly. And without exaggeration, it turned out to be perfect for me!" H. Mason, 5727 9th Avenue, Rosemount, Montreal.

If your constipation is due to lack of bulk in the diet, you too may find lasting relief! Eat a daily portion of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN and drink plenty of water! ALL-BRAN is not a purgative, but a wholesome regulating cereal. Eat an ounce as a cereal or in muffins for constipation relief. If after using a package you are not entirely satisfied, get double your money back as guaranteed on the package. Buy delicious ALL-BRAN from your grocer today. Made by Kellogg's of London, Ontario.

University School Athletes Hold Annual Track Meet

Close competition was feature of annual University School track and field meet held on school grounds yesterday. Picture at left shows photo finish in 440-yard inter-house junior relay race. J. M. Taylor of Brantwood House (left) touched tape with his hand at same time S. R. Queale of Founders House connected with his waist. In above picture R. J. Baseball Clears Outlaws; Player Limits Extended

NEW YORK, June 6 (AP)—Having decided to welcome home the misled athletes who jumped the reservation in '46, organized baseball stretched itself today to demonstrate that it really has a heart.

The boys who went south in quest of Mexican gold were assured by Commissioner A. B. Chandler that they will be guests of the house while they and their former employers are becoming reacquainted.

The 25-player limit will be suspended in the majors for their special benefit, much as it was for the homecoming veterans after the war, and the promise is implicit that nobody will get shoved around.

"The baseball commissioner will co-operate with the club owners and make the 25-player limit elastic for a reasonable time to give them opportunity to dispose of the players or make room for them," said a statement from Chandler's office.

WILL PUSH SUITS

This attitude awakened no response from Frederic A. Johnson, who is pushing Danny Gardella's suit for $300,000 damages against organized baseball which, he claims, deprived him of a means of livelihood.

"Under no circumstances will Gardella apply for reinstatement," Lawyer Johnson declared.

The spokesman for the squat little outfielder who played for New York Giants during the war feels certain he has baseball's leaders on the run.

John R. Flynn, counsel for Max Lanier and Fred Martin, announced that the two former St. Louis Cardinals pitchers had applied to President Ford Frick of the National League for reinstatement, but they, too, will pursue their damage suit for $2,500,000.

Federal Judge Learned Hand wound up a decision last week by saying that the two suits "should be brought to trial as soon as possible." It was believed that, with this sort of prod, the case might be heard as early as October. Only a settlement out of court is likely to keep Gardella's suit from coming to trial.

The three players contend in their suits that baseball is a monopoly operating in violation of anti-trust laws—that the reserve clause which binds a player to a single club is unconstitutional.

Reinstated Players

NEW YORK, June 6 (AP) — The following players are among those who jumped organized baseball contracts to play in the Mexican League:

New York Giants — Pitchers Adrian Zabala, Sal Maglie, Harry Feldman and Ace Adams, infielders Roy Zimmerman, Nap Reyes and George Hausmann. Outfielder Danny Gardella.

St. Louis Cardinals—Pitchers Max Lanier and Fred Martin, infielder Lou Klein.

Brooklyn Dodgers—Catcher Mickey Owen, outfielders Luis Olmo and Roland Gladu.

Philadelphia Athletics — Outfielder Roberto Estalella.

Washington Senators—Outfielder Roberto Ortiz, infielder Chile Gomez.

Chicago White Sox—Pitcher Alex Carrasquel.

Detroit Tigers—Infielder Murry Franklin.

Philadelphia Phillies — Outfielder Rene Monteagudo.

Chicago Cubs — Catcher Chico Hernandez.

Toledo (American Association)—Catcher Myron Hayworth.

Montreal (International League)—Shortstop Stan Breard.

Sacramento (Pacific Coast League) Catcher Jim Steiner.

Five C's Win At Seattle; Payne in Form

Five C's registered their third straight victory in Victoria and District Cricket Association League play by turning back Seattle, 138-40 on the latter's home ground at Kirkland during the week-end. Alan Griffin and George Payne led the Victorians at bat with 25 and 32 runs, respectively, but Jack Payne's hat-trick, which wrote finis to the Seattle XI's innings, stood out as the highlight of the match.

Victorians took their turn batting immediately after Mayor Everett of Kirkland had bowled the first ball to officially open the season south of the border. They found the short boundaries to their liking and maintained a lively pace throughout the innings.

When Seattle came to bat, runs were at a premium as devastating bowling by both Payne and Richards kept batsmen from becoming set. N. B. Shah with 16, and Y. Naidu with 15, were only Seattle members able to reach double figures. Shah gave a display of forceful batting while Naidu showed fine style with a good variety of strokes.

Matt Hughes, chief organizer of the team, gained a moral victory by coming in at fifth wicket and staying in for a "not out," and son Lloyd took top honors in bowling averages with a pair of wickets for as many runs.

Pitcher Bill Gallop of winners gave up only one hit, losing his no-hitter in the final inning.

Hardest Hit in 1946, Redbirds Gain Most

NEW YORK, June 6 (AP).—If Max Lanier and Fred Martin return to St. Louis Cardinals in their 1946 form, Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler's decision to reinstate the Mexican "jumpers" could mean the National League pennant for the Birds.

If Lanier's arm is as strong as his 4-1 record for Drummondville in the semi-pro Quebec Provincial League would indicate, the Cards will have an impressive southpaw array—Harry Brecheen, Howie Pollet, Al Brazle and Lanier.

Lanier professed to arm trouble at one stage of his career but he was the top pitcher in the league with a 6-0 record when he hopped to Mexico in May, 1946. However, he has not pitched a complete big league season since 1944. He went into the army in 1945, appearing in only four games. Now he is 33.

Martin was a brilliant prewar prospect. He went into the service after winning 23 games at Houston in 1941 with a 1.54 earned-run average. He and Pollet were Houston aces. When he came out of the army, he pitched in the Cuban Winter League of 1945-46 before reporting to the Cards. So far this season he has only a 3-2 record for Sherbrooke Athletics in the Quebec Provincial League.

Then the Cards also get Lou Klein, veteran 36-year-old infielder, reduced to utility status before he jumped. With Whitey Kurowski on the shelf, Klein might be of great help to the St. Louis infield.

The Cardinals were hardest hit in 1946 when the three left and, naturally, stand to gain the most by the reinstatements. However, the Cards of '46 went on to win the pennant in a play-off with Brooklyn and whipped Boston Red Sox in the World Series.

HELP FOR DODGERS

Brooklyn also figures to get help from Chandler's dramatic move. Catcher Mickey Owen, although he's now 33, could help as an extra catcher. Owen has been playing semi-pro ball since he left Mexico. He is reported en route to Ebbets Field.

Louis Olmo, a .313 hitter for the Dodgers in 1945, also might come in handy. The 29-year-old Puerto Rican, a right-handed batter, now is playing with the Pastora Club at Maracaibo, Venezuela. Roland Gladu, the other Brooklyn-owned suspended player, probably is too old at 36 to fit into the majors.

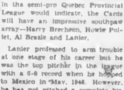
Washington also expects to add strength in Roberto Ortiz, slugging outfielder who led the Mexican League in batting and home runs. He is playing in Venezuela but owner Clark Griffith of the Nats will welcome him back.

GIANTS NOT HOPEFUL

New York Giants are not looking for much assistance from their eight former players who now are free to rejoin the club. One—Danny Gardella—says he won't ask for reinstatement. Danny is suing the Giants and baseball for $300,000. At the present time he is riding the bench for Drummondville, hitting .233 in 11 games.

Sal Maglie, another former Giant, is the top man at Drummondville with a 7-0 record. Pitchers Adrian Zabala and Harry Feldman and First Baseman Roy Zimmerman also have been in Canada. Infielders George Hausmann and Nap Reyes are playing in the Mexican League. Hausmann, a second baseman, is the only Polo Grounds possibility.

Could Mean Flag



MAX LANIER

One of baseball's outlaw players reinstated by Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler over week-end, Lanier could mean National League pennant for St. Louis Cards if he is equal to prewar form. Sporting 5-1 record for season with Drummondville Cubs of Quebec Provincial League, Lanier believes he can "do St. Louis some good" and will be in top physical condition within week if National League club signs him again.

Dodgers Share Lead, Negro Hurler Stars

By The Canadian Press

Branch Rickey wasn't kidding when he hung that $300,000 price tag on negro Pitcher Don Newcombe.

The husky righthander, who led the International League in pitching last year while with the Dodgers' Montreal farm, has been performing brilliantly with the National League Brooklyn Dodgers.

Newcombe pitched a four-hitter yesterday as the Dodgers were trimming the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-1. The victory moved the Bums into a first-place tie with New York Giants for the National League lead.

It was Newcombe's second win since joining the Dodgers three weeks ago.

CARDS PRESS LEADERS

Meanwhile, the red-hot St. Louis Cardinals won their 12th game in the last 14 by thumping the Boston Braves, 7-3. The Cards now are in third place, right behind the Dodgers and the Giants. Boston are two percentage points behind St. Louis.

The Giants dropped a close one to the Cincinnati Reds, 4-3. Johnny Wyrostek's three-run homer and Pitcher Howie Fox's game-winning single sent the New Yorkers down to defeat. Fox scattered eight Giant hits, including a homer by Jack Lohrke.

BOUDREAU AT THIRD

In American League action yesterday, the Cleveland Indians, with Manager Lou Boudreau playing third base for the first time in his major league career, blasted the Philadelphia Athletics, 11-5. The Boston Red Sox nosed out Detroit Tigers, 10-9.

A home run by Joe Gordon paced the Indians to victory after Boudreau's replacement at short, Rookie Raye (Ike) Boone, helped the A's to five runs in the fourth by making two errors.

Better Golf

By SAM SNEAD

Pictured today our player has started the last important action of the downswing. This is the uncocking of the wrists, which action should not start until the hands are hip-high in the downswing. Then you, in the last third of the downswing feed the power stored up in the cocked wrists into the shot. The power of the cocked wrists is held in reserve until this point in order that this power will give added speed to the clubhead shortly before impact. Thus, at impact, the clubhead will be traveling at its maximum rhythmic speed. If the hands are uncocked higher up in the down-swing the speed they add to the clubhead will have been expended in the air and not on the ball. Club speed counts only at impact. Don't waste it in the air by starting the uncocking action of the hands too soon. Now study this picture and read the description of important actions that take place during the downswing. There's a world of golf in today's picture.

Norbert Remains As Pilot

Widely-circulated rumors in Victoria and other W.I.L. cities that Ted Norbert was to be deposed as manager of the Victoria Athletics were squashed last night at a meeting of the directors of the Victoria Baseball and Athletic Company, operator of the Victoria franchise.

"In regard to rumors that Ted Norbert would not remain as manager of the Victoria Athletics, they did not emanate from the board of directors and had no real foundation in fact," Club President J. V. Johnsen stated, following the meeting. "He has the fullest confidence of the directors and will remain at the helm of the club for the balance of the season."

First reports of a possible change in management apparently came from a Tacoma newspaper report. As the A's continued their skid downward, reports became more prevalent and last night's meeting was called for the sole reason of discussing rumors and making a definite decision. Any uncertainty there may have been for Norbert is now a thing of the past and the Victoria manager will have the balance of the schedule to attempt to right a club which was expected to do anything but trail.

There was no announcement regarding possible reinforcements, but it is known that the club is attempting to sign one or two players of proven ability in a drive to vacate the basement and make the Shaughnessy play-off. Something definite in this regard is expected before the end of the week.

Scottish Games Slated July 30

The annual Victoria Highland Games will be held at Macdonald Park on Saturday, July 30.

Efforts are being made to make this year's games bigger and better than ever. Pipe bands and dancers have been invited from Seattle, Vancouver and other provincial points. Archie McKinnon is contacting leading athletes in the Northwest to compete in track and field events. An added attraction to the field program this year is cycle racing.

DETROIT, June 6 (AP).—Belfast Celtics soccer team yesterday turned in the sixth victory of its North American tour as it beat the Dave Kennedy Club of Detroit, 4-2.

The Irish team has tied two games and lost one decision. Jimmy Campbell paced Belfast with two goals.

Colwood Golfer Retains Matson Memorial Trophy

Don Barton of the Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club Sunday became the first golfer to retain the Jack Matson Memorial Trophy, emblematic of the handicap golf championship of Vancouver Island. Barton toured the Uplands course in 90 strokes which gave him a net of 63, one stroke better than the score turned in by Don Woodhouse, Uplands. Barton played to a 22 handicap when he won the event last year, but he didn't seem to miss the five-stroke difference.

Low gross honors were shared by George Bigelow, Victoria Golf Club; Harold Lineham and Vic Painter of Colwood, who had 73's. They will play off at a date to be set to decide the winner. R. N. Lawrence of Nanaimo won the prize for the lowest score turned in by a visiting golfer. He had 76—8—68. Other prize winners will be announced as soon as all scores have been checked. A total of 100 golfers competed in the 14th staging of the tournament. This was four less than the 1948 total.

Gordon Verley, Frank Scroggs and Don Gowan, all of Uplands, had net 74's. Other low net totals included: H. Reid, Gorge Vale, 66; W. D. Higgs, Colwood, 66; S. G. Hill, Colwood, 67; R. W. Purves, Uplands, 67; J. R. Clark, Gorge Vale, 67; G. Greenwood, Colwood, 67; C. S. Humber, Uplands, 68; A. Carroll, Gorge Vale, 68; C. Keown, Gorge Vale, 69; S. Clouting Holds Up A's Shaky Hurling

Victorians Hit Hard to Down League Leaders In Series Opener, 16-10—Double-Header Tonight

VICTORIA	16	31	.340

Practically every baseball fan has some theory on what has been wrong with Victoria Athletics this season but those who have maintained that most of the fault lay with mediocre pitching received further fuel for their argument last night. Opening a four-game series with the league-leading Yakima Bears, it took a lot of lusty hitting before the A's pulled it out for their mound staff, 16-10. A shivering crowd of 1,200 enjoyed most of the wild contest.

It was definitely a hitters' night as the A's built up a 9-0 lead, almost lost it in a nightmarish sixth inning and then came on again to build up another big cushion. The Victorians included three home runs, two triples and five doubles among their 17 hits and twice scored five runs in an inning.

TRIO LEADS WAY

Featuring the onslaught was the clouting of Frank Finnegan, Charlie Balassi and Gil McDougald. Replacing the benched Ray Jacobs, Finnegan connected for a home run and two doubles, each blow driving in two runs. Balassi made his first 1949 home appearance an auspicious occasion, touching off a five-run first inning by lining a home run over the centrefield fence, leading off again in the second with a double, and then connecting for two bases in the seventh in the midst of the second five-inning uprising. McDougald only made one hit but it was a dandy. He cracked one out of sight in the seventh with the bags jammed.

WARD BLOWS LEAD

Larry Ward started for the A's and eventually was credited with his fourth victory although he went out under fire in the sixth, unable to hold a nine-run lead. The Bears certainly made it interesting, scoring eight runs and having runners on first and second before a man was out. After giving up five hits and a base on balls and seeing Bob Keeler boot a possible double-play ball, Ward was finally yanked in favor of Rex Jones.

Jones received a robust greeting before settling down. Edo Vanni doubled, Al Jacinto and Gene Petralli singled and he uncorked a wild pitch before getting Ray Orteig to smash into a double play and whiffing Ted Jennings. Jones struck out the side in the seventh, got by the eighth neatly, but gave up a two-run homer to Babe Gammino in the ninth. By that time it didn't matter.

Their big lead in danger, the Norbertmen scored two in the sixth on Finnegan's bases-loaded double and then gained an eight-run cushion in the seventh as Ted Savarese, second Yakima southpaw to face the right-handed Victoria batting array, encountered more of the difficulties which befell Starter Lloyd Dickey.

The season's first double-header is billed tonight. Manager Joe Orengo believes he will start Dick Drilling and Bill Bradford for Yakima while Victoria's Ted Norbert is not so sure. Looking over the list of possibilities, it probably will be Frank Logue and Frank Prowse. Tobey Tobias may start but was not in uniform last night due to illness. The other four hurlers have all seen action during the past two days.

CAPS PROTECT POSITION

Salem Senators hammered four home runs and outhit Vancouver Capilanos, 13-6, last night but the Caps snatched an 8-6 decision to temporarily halt the Senators' bid for second place.

All other W.I.L. clubs were idle last night with Spokane at Tacoma and Wenatchee at Bremerton opening three-game series tonight.

Beavers Lose Third Straight

Hudson's Bay Beavers lost all three games with Lind-Pomeroy when they bumped into outstanding pitching by Portland hurlers.

Betty Evans, who blanked Beavers on two hits on Friday, fashioned a no-hit, no-run game against them on Saturday. Bays broke the scoreless string on Sunday, but garnered only one hit from the slants of Pomeroys' hurler Melsen, dropping a 5-1 decision.

Tiremen Bolster Margin With 4-2 Win Over Aces

HOW THEY STAND

Next game, tonight: Timber Service vs. Chinese Students, 6:45 p.m.

Douglas Tire increased its lead in the Senior "A" Men's Softball League to two and a half games over the idle Timber Service by downing Brentwood Aces, 4-2, behind the neat five-hit pitching of Ken Gunter at Upper Central last night.

GUNTER IN FORM

Aces failed to get a runner past second base in the first six innings as Gunter was at his best. He met his only trouble in the seventh when a walk, successive singles by "Arch" Bluggett and Kelly Slater, an outfield fly and fielder's choice gave Suburbanites both their runs.

Tiremen opened the scoring in the first inning with a pair of tallies on two walks, Ray Byers' single and a fielder's choice. They added an unearned marker in the sixth and clinched the verdict with a singleton in the ninth.

Bluggett settled down after the first inning and matched Gunter on the mound, but the Suburbanites could not overcome the lead.

USE HOME RUN ROUTE

Red's Service hammered four home runs while trouncing Dodgerettes, 23-4, in a senior women's game at Lower Central. Four base blows were hit by Jan Zaruk, Barbara Peterson, Evelyn Slater and Marion Lindgren.

Gordon Head vacated the senior "B" men's cellar by edging Hemsworth's, 8-6, at Gordon Head Camp.

By GRANTLAND RICE

A few days ago there were over 1,300 golfers dreaming they were the next National Open Champion of the U.S.A.

By next Saturday afternoon in Chicago, there will be just one dream that has come true. There will be one survivor from the big field that [illegible]

Who will it be? Sammy Snead? Cary Middlecoff? Bobby Locke? Joe Kirkwood, Jr.? Lloyd Mangrum? Johnny Palmer? Or some outsider who suddenly finds his touch and timing for four consecutive rounds? Jim Turnesa and Claude Harmon are good enough to win. So is Jimmy Demaret.

Neither Snead nor Demaret has ever won an Open. Neither is getting any younger. I would say that Snead is the best golfer we have, who has never won an Open. Virginia Sam has won the P.G.A., the British Open and the Masters. He has won many other big money championships. But the U.S. Open has eluded him as it eluded the brilliant MacDonald Smith, Light-Horse Harry Cooper and many other exceptional stars.

THE FIRST OPEN

You might want a brief review of our Open—now the top golf championship.

A fellow named Horace Rawlins won the first Open at Newport in 1895. He took 173 strokes for 36 holes—about what a 15 handicap player would need today.

Fred Herd won the first 72-hole Open at Myopia in 1898 with 328. That score today wouldn't leave him in the first 100. Alex Smith, an old friend of mine, the Scot who invented the phrase—"Miss 'em quick," was the first to break 300. Alex had 295 at Onwentsia, Chicago, in 1906. Even the immortal Harry Vardon needed 313 at Chicago in 1900.

The first golfer to break 290 in an Open was the eternal Chick Evans who shot 286 at Minikahda in 1916. That was the top mark for 16 years. It was a better score than Jones, Hagen or Sarazen ever made in an Open, with the exception of Sarazen's 286 at Meadowbrook in 1932.

JONES' GREAT RECORD

But the golfer with the all-time record is Jones who ran 1-2 in U.S. Opens through eight of the nine years from 1922 to 1930. Outside of the Skokie tournament in 1922 neither Sarazen nor Hagen was ever able to lead Jones in any U.S. Open after nine years of competition. Jones was tied up by Willie McFarlane, Johnny Farrell, Bobby Cruickshank and Al Espinoza, where he won two and lost two play-offs.

Jones is far ahead of all U.S. Open competitors. But it has been 19 years since the Atlanta star competed in an Open and the pace has picked up speed, just as the pace always picks up speed as the years roll by.

THE 1946 OPEN

Only two men have ever won the P.G.A. and the U.S. Open the same year.

The first was Sarazen, who won the Open at Skokie in 1922 and the P.G.A. at Oakmont.

The second was Ben Hogan who won the U.S. Open and the P.G.A. last year before the accident arrived that may have wrecked a great career.

Hogan was the greatest golfer in the world when he was practically torn apart. With Byron Nelson in partial retirement, this left the field to Snead, Middlecoff, Locke, Mangrum, Palmer, Joe Kirkwood, Jr., and a few others who at least remained threatening.

When they meet at Medinah in Chicago, the ones I have mentioned have the call. One of these should win. But as George Low once said to me—40 years ago—"golf is an 'umblin' game."

The veteran Scot never offered a truer line.

MUCH AT STAKE

Snead, the golfer with the game's greatest swing, has more at stake than any one else.

Snead with the finest all-around game golf has produced on the mechanical side, now has his chance to be the third golfer to win the P.G.A. and the Open in the same year—the golfer with a chance to hook up with Sarazen and Hogan.

Snead also has the chance to be one of the few to stand as winner of the United States Open, the British Open and the P.G.A., won only by Hagen, Sarazen, Barnes and Armour.

PEOPLE'S CHOICE

Every one who knows Snead is pulling for him. Every one who has seen him swing a golf club is pulling for him. There is nothing of the grimness about him that belongs to so many in pursuit of the elusive cash. He should have doubled his tournament wins—and his championships. But a subtle factor known as concentration, plus erratic putting, has cut him down too often.

Snead can win this next United States Open. He can also finish well down in the most baffling game mankind has ever invented. Sammy will carry the thundering mob. He will be the people's choice. But he has a lot to do before he finishes in front over the green turf of Medinah.

Cowan, Halley May Get Bid From O.C. Club

VANCOUVER, June 6 (CP).—Experience may not be all two members of the British Columbia All-Star soccer team notched in their Saturday match with touring Newcastle United squad.

Directors of the British team have evinced definite interest in two of the British Columbia players—16-year-old John Halley and 22-year-old Jack Cowan.

Soccer forecasters say it is likely that before leaving after Tuesday's game, the Newcastle management will make an offer to both players.

Tiremen Sweep Softball Games

Douglas Tire completed a sweep of the three-game exhibition series with Vancouver Narrows, provincial senior "A" men's softball champions, by downing the Mainland club, 6-3, at Upper Central on Sunday.

Tiremen opened the scoring with a three-run splurge, highlighted by Ray Byers' two-run homer, in the first inning. They added a singleton in the second and completed their scoring with a pair of tallies in the fourth.

Joe Bryant, borrowed for the game, held Narrows scoreless until the sixth. Sam Radu and Bill Pickering shared mound duties for losers.

Newcastle XI Trims Seattle

SEATTLE, June 6 (AP).—The famous Newcastle United soccer team from the north country of England defeated the Washington State All-Stars, 10-1, yesterday in a Milk Fund international charity game.

Jackie Milburn, ace Newcastle centre, topped the scoring with four goals—three of them in the first half. George Robledo, Chilean star, playing with the English team, booted in three goals. Ernie Taylor two and Frank Brennan one.

Newcastle led at the half 6-0.

O.C. Cricket

LONDON, June 6 (Reuters).—A day of uninterrupted sunshine together with the vacation spirit inspired several batsmen to flay the bowling for big scores in today's English county cricket.

Eric Compton, playing for Middlesex against Sussex in his benefit match at Lords, delighted some 30,000 fans by scoring a hurricane 182 in 2¼ hours, including 20 fours. He claimed 113 out of 140 added for the fifth wicket in 80 minutes.

Len Hutton, England's opening batsman, hit three sixes, one five and 19 fours in an innings of 201 for Yorkshire against Lancashire.

Nottinghamshire's stylish opening batsman, Reginald Simpson, hit the Surrey bowlers for 169 not out, with 24 fours, and E. Davis got 125 not out for Northants against Leicestershire.

Tonight's first class scoreboard:

At Cardiff—New Zealand 313 for eight declared; Glamorgan 14 for four.

At Lords—Sussex 309; Middlesex 430 for seven.

At Cambridge—Free Foresters 311 and 94 for none; Cambridge University 401 for seven declared.

At Taunton—Somerset defeated Gloucestershire by eight wickets. Gloucestershire 128 and 189; Somerset 321, and 00 for two.

At Manchester—Yorkshire 536 for seven declared and none for none; Lancashire 177.

At Birmingham—Derbyshire 96 and 302; Warwickshire 177 and 21 for two.

At Southampton—Kent 131 and 103; Hampshire 104 and 0 for four.

At Northampton—Leicestershire 334; Northamptonshire 313 for seven.

At Nottingham—Surrey 300; Nottinghamshire 361 for two.

At Worcester—Worcestershire defeated Essex by an innings and eight runs. Essex 240 and 116; Worcestershire 391 for nine declared.

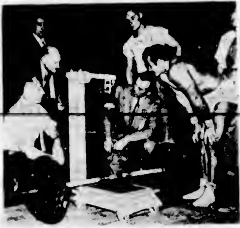
SYDNEY, Australia, June 6 (Reuters).—The New Zealand Maori team defeated Australia in a Rugby Union test match Saturday, 12-3.

Sets New Weight-Lifting Record



Stan Stanczyk, 181-pound Olympic champion (right), eyes scales as judges check 291-pound weight he lifted over his head in two-arm snatch at National A.A.U. weight-lifting championships at Cleveland, Ohio. Lift set world's record, bettering by five pounds that formerly held by Red Army Captain Gregori Novak. Stanczyk also topped two other world's records as he captured A.A.U. light-heavyweight title.

C.A.H.A. Nets $162,000 Profit From Play-Offs; Delay Decision on Policy for World Tourneys

NEW YORK, June 6 (CP).—The 32nd annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association ended tonight with the association's policy of sending teams to Europe for world championships and exhibition tours still to be decided. A decision is expected some time in July or August.

The issue, upshot of Sudbury Wolves' three-month trip to Europe last Winter, will be settled "at the [illegible]

Manager Max Silverman of Sudbury and John Anthony Aherne of London, C.A.H.A. overseas representative who organized the trip, appeared before a full session of the association to present their reports.

MUST UPHOLD PRESTIGE

Most of today's discussion was taken up with the question, and the feeling of delegates appears to be that Canada cannot afford to miss the world tournament scheduled for London next January or February.

"We would lose considerable prestige if we stayed at home just one year after taking a beating," Cecil Duncan of Ottawa, a life member, told the meeting.

The five-day meeting, held for the first time outside Canada, drew more than 100 officials from amateur and professional associations in Canada and the United States.

Nearly 70 resolutions were introduced in morning, afternoon and night sessions.

SEEK SERIES SPLIT

The C.A.H.A. semi-annual meeting will be held next January at Montreal, and officials will have plenty to talk about, particularly arrangements for the 1950 Allan and Memorial Cup playdowns and championships. Specifically they will consider:

1. A request from Frank J. Selke, general manager of Montreal Canadiens, that the Memorial Cup best-of-seven championship series be split up between rinks in Eastern and Western Canada.

2. A request from the Maritime A.H.A. that its clubs be granted "at least a bye to the Eastern Canadian senior semi-finals for the 1949-50 season and that at least three games of this series should be played in the Maritimes."

3. A request that no extensions should be granted after playoff dates have been set "under any circumstances." This resolution also was introduced by the Maritime A.H.A.

SURPLUS DIVISION

A financial statement on the C.A.H.A.'s operations of Allan and Memorial Cup playoffs and championship games showed a surplus of $162,000. The association keeps a flat $50,000 and the remainder is [illegible] purposes: payment to all clubs in cup playoffs, donations to a "special national purposes," and a small sum to the C.A.H.A. reserve fund.

This year the four clubs reaching the Allan and Memorial Cup championships received a total of $35,625, based on $625 a game given by the C.A.H.A. for team expenses. Broken down it is:

Ottawa Senators, Allan Cup champions, $6,250 for ten games. Regina Capitals, Allan Cup finalists, $8,750 for 14 games. Montreal Royals, Memorial Cup champions, $9,375 for 15 games, and Brandon Wheat Kings, defeated in the final Memorial Cup series, $11,250 for 18 games.

Each club received an additional $500 for qualifying as finalists.

5 IN MEMORIAM

HARDY—In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Alvin Leonard Hardy, who passed away June 7, 1947.

No length of time, no lapse of years,
Can dim our loved one's past;
For treasured memories hold him dear
And will while life shall last.
Dear Saviour, fold him in Thy arms
And let him ever be
A messenger of love between
Our human hearts and Thee.

—Sadly missed by Mom, Dad, Brothers and Uncle Jim.

PROPERTY WANTED

This is the craziest business. For example: A lady wants four or five acres of land, for a pig farm, must be close to a bus line (pigs are apparently becoming transit-conscious). Another enquiry is for five or more acres of waterfront, distance no object. Then again there is a gentleman who wants a "Pub" Hotel, with a license, that is. So they come. Can you help me out? But by the way if you are looking for some real good buys in properties, such as a double corner industrial site on Douglas Street, or a six acre waterfront farm at Sooke or a ladies' ready-to-wear or — But why go on? LAND - LAND - LAND FOR SEED FARM, DAIRY FARM OR SUBDIVISION

Approximately 35 acres of high-grade land worked to beautiful condition, fenced and cross-fenced, on best part of Saanich Peninsula, with frontage on East Saanich Road.

This property contains numerous springs providing abundant moisture throughout the year.

Previous subdivision of the property into parcels varying in size from 1½ acres to 3½ acres would permit sale of portions if whole is not desired.

We strongly recommend this offering to specialists in seed farming or for any general farming purpose, or for subdivision to smaller holdings for good homes with wonderful views available.

Uncertain Destiny

By BETTY WEBB

CHAPTER XVI—Continued

"My little sister tires you?"

Linda shook her head. "I'm very fond of Mary, and of you, too Steve."

Her face was turned to the window, so Linda did not see the sudden expression on his face, the way his eyes lighted, his fingers clenched the [illegible] ness w[illegible] on his features, Linda might not have gone on.

"You've been almost like a brother, Steve. I never had a brother, you know."

The expression of indifference, which Steve had learned to wear to mask his real emotions, slid over his features. His voice was pleasantly indifferent.

"I—I hope you've been happy here these last seven months, Mrs. Baridon."

"Very."

"We'll be quite wealthy now. You can have anything you want. Furs, jewels, a car—just name it and it's yours."

Name it and it's yuur's! . . . Linda smiled sardonically. In the next few weeks, as Steve's book reached unbelievable heights of popularity, Linda mulled over those words. Every material thing it was possible to possess was Linda's. Steve surrounded her with luxuries, the things Linda Phillips of Prairievale had yearned to possess. Now they failed to impress her. She accepted these gifts graciously. That was all.

And then, one morning, Linda awoke to the realization that she must make up her differences with Diane. For a long time she lay motionless in her bed, longing to reach for the ivory telephone, yet half [illegible] on the instrument.

The last few weeks had been endless to Linda. At first it had been fun to watch the money fairly pour in, to hear from Steve's publisher how famous his book was proving to be. It had been thrilling to shop with Mary for smart, expensive clothes, to lunch in fashionable restaurants without giving a thought to the price. But the newness had worn off and Mary had been forced temporarily to desert her husband to take part in a society horse show in the East.

It had been hard, too, for Linda to keep up the pretence of disliking Diane Frazier. So much had occurred since Linda left Diane's apartment that November night, it was hard to connect that sobbing, hysterical girl with the now bored and unhappy wife of Steve Baridon.

At last she seized the telephone and called Diane's studio, her breath quickening with expectation. Then after a long, uncertain moment Diane's voice came over the wire.

"This is Miss Frazier speaking."

"Diane—this is Linda. Linda—Baridon."

"Oh." Did she imagine uncertainty in Diane's tone? "Is something wrong, Linda?"

Linda laughed nervously. "No, not exactly. That is—" She was suddenly confused by the artist's direct question. "I—I must see you. It's very important."

There! She had said the very thing she never expected to say, and Diane's voice grew warmer. "We could have luncheon together at one o'clock tomorrow, if it's convenient for you."

"N—not until tomorrow?" Wistfully.

Diane hesitated momentarily. Then, "I had made tentative plans, but I think I can break them. They really weren't important."

"Oh, I'm so glad." Linda cried impulsively. "I can drive to Chicago in two hours. Where shall I meet you?"

Diane named a popular lounge and Linda assented, scarcely able to keep a ring of pure happiness from her voice. Dressing for lunch she was conscious that a weight seemingly had dropped from her shoulders. She took greater pains with her appearance, so that Diane might see in her a person far different from the innocent girl whose hopes and dreams were smashed months before.

At the last minute she paused uncertainly. What could she say, she wondered, in order to keep from Diane the real story of her hasty marriage and departure for Hillsacres, and, further, not to betray her interest in Greg's whereabouts, his plans for the future? Then she shrugged lightly. Indifference. Every situation in which she had been involved of late had worked out satisfactorily. Perhaps this, too, would not prove an ordeal once she and Diane were together again.

Linda hesitated before the three cars in the garage, smiling ruefully at Steve's extravagance. The expensive cream-colored roadster she dismissed, as being his personal property. That car had been his first purchase, and Steve was boyishly proud of it. The station wagon was impractical for one person's use, so she took the small town car which had been Steve's gift to his "partner-in-crime," as Linda had called herself following his success.

But driving to Chicago, Linda's newly-acquired calm gave way to rising excitement once more. Would Diane accept her apology, she wondered, or had sufficient time elapsed for the other girl to forget the bitter words and accusations that had created a wall of misunderstanding between them?

Linda was soon to know.

S. O. S.

AS YOU PROBABLY KNOW . . . 'cause I've told U before, we live in a house . . . right on the shore. So when you want . . . to go for a swim, you just park the lawn-mower . . . & go jump in. It's a handy arrangement . . . tho I mostly freeze, & I look a sight . . . in my B.V.D.'s. And so today, as I climbed on the float, I dried myself . . . on our flattie boat. All set, I thot to get a skin brown, the flattie was turned . . . upside down. Parked that way . . . since winter last, exposed to the weather . . . & made fast. Some heavy thinking . . . I thot I'd do, I'd get an idea . . . & think it thru. And so I stared at the sky & sea, but no startling new thot . . . came to me. Buoyancy I saw in the gliding gull, then DAYLIGHT . . . thru the flattie's hull. So instead of thinking . . . I made a start, one seam a quarter . . . inch apart. And under a rivet I fingered a nail, it came right out . . . the wood so frail. This wreck I knew . . . I'd have to caulk, so I spent all day . . . down on that dock. You don't need, to spend all day shopping around . . . for less to pay. And if to your home, the iceman will bring, we have waiting for you . . . the famous "ICE KING". It looks like a frig., cokes better to sip, & you can water the garden . . . with the drip. At scraping the paint . . . I was a fizzle, Trudie helped out . . . with the big chisel. "There MUST BE," she said, "a better way, this stuff's as tough . . . as hard-pan clay." "Yes . . . there is . . . the paint you scorch, but we don't have . . . any blow torch." But finally 'twas finished, & pretty rough too, but we'd had enuff . . . I was thru. Into the drink . . . a belly-flop dive, & once again . . . the flattie alive. That's an expression yachtsmen bestow when a boat first hits . . . the H. 2 o. For a moment or so, all dry within, as good I thot . . . as she's ever bin. Then a trickle . . . down at the stern, so I got the oars . . . to do a turn. More water then, up near the bow, I was out in deep water . . . too soon . . . some-how, "Is she leaking much??" Trudie was shouting, my laughing face . . . very much doohting. "Better come back . . . your too far out," it's O.K. dear" . . . I too with a shoot. We'd like to shout to you land-lubbers all, this oil-range we KNOW . . . is right on the ball. The oil & the air are sinkcrow-nized, the saving in oil . . . you'd B surprised. It's made by "Quaker" . . . that's your guarantee, credit as magically . . . as can be. So drift on down . . . come today, there's many carefree . . . months to pay. I turned about our little ship, which caused of course . . . a starboard dip. I knew at once . . . THIS a mistake, & that home-port . . . I'd NEVER make. I also knew . . . as an oar did slip, how one does feel . . . in a sinking ship. I kicked off my sandals, & looked around, Trudie was jumping . . . off the ground. I pulled like crazy, but she wouldn't steer, so I slowly began . . . to disappear. And so, once again . . . it's happened before, I pulled on the painter . . . instead of an oar. Trudie couldn't stop laughing . . . I won't quote her quips, as I "WENT DOWN . . . TO THE SEA IN DIPS."

ANSWER TO SUNDAY'S PUZZLE

A defender made matters as difficult as possible for South in today's deal, but more realistic thinking by South would have brought him victory.

The bidding

South	West	North	East
1 N.T.	Pass	2 N.T.	Pass
3 N.T.	Pass	Pass	Pass

West made a smart decision when he opened the diamond king, instead of leading from his five-club suit. The latter lead would have given declarer easy sailing.

South held up his diamond ace, East having signalled vigorously with the ten, and West continued with the queen and jack of diamonds.

Having won the third trick, declarer saw that even if he could run four heart tricks and win the club finesse, he would require two spades for contract, so he immediately cashed and promptly exited with the spade jack—giving the enemy what would be theirs in any case, but not breaking a new suit for them.

Declarer cashed dummy's last spade, discarding his own low club, while East gave up a diamond and West meekly threw off the club four. Now, after some thought, declarer led his own heart king, then cashed the ace and queen of hearts. His reasoning was obvious: if the heart jack dropped on these rounds, he could lead directly to the club ace and cash his last heart for the fulfilling trick; if the heart jack did not come to light, he could fall back on the club finesse for his final effort.

Unfortunately, the heart jack didn't drop, and the club finesse failed, so South had to acknowledge defeat.

South's analysis was not quite good enough. The diamond situation was marked, since West surely would have continued that suit after taking the spade king. Thus after cashing the spades and dummy's heart honors, South should have finessed to his own heart ten. If West could win with the jack, what of it? He would then have to lead a club up to South's major tenace.

Driver Fails To Clear Road On Police Run

Saanich police, still are encountering difficulty in obtaining clear streets on emergency runs.

On the way to an accident at the intersection of Richmond Road and Townley Street yesterday, Sgt. Jack Hamilton said a motorist failed to pull to the side of the road at the sound of the approaching siren. The driver will be charged accordingly.

There have been several recent accidents caused by drivers not yielding to emergency vehicles. In two city cases one driver was charged with dangerous driving and the other paid a fine on a charge of failing to pull to the curb.

Mop, Bucket Awaiting Little Chang's Return

The mop and bucket of "Little Chang" may still be standing in a closet at the Empress Hotel.

But hotel employees are beginning to feel that this time Chang will never return to janitor duties

Yet you can never be sure about Chang

Once before the withered little Chinese janitor placed his mop and bucket in the closet at the end of a day's work and announced suddenly in his pidgin English that he was going back to China.

Four years later he came back and took his mop and bucket out of the closet and went quietly back to work

Efforts to persuade him that he didn't work at the Empress any longer were unavailing. Either truthfully or artfully Chang just didn't understand

There was no choice but to put him back on the payroll and there he remained for another 14 years.

Last Autumn he put the mop and the bucket away once more and set off for China once again.

"This time no come back," he said

But they're keeping his mop and bucket just in case

Island Berries Fill Plane To Winnipeg

Saanich strawberries made history Sunday night when 6,500 pounds of them became the first full cargo of strawberries ever to be flown east from the West Coast.

Shipped by the Saanich Fruit Growers' Association, they left Patricia Bay Airport Sunday at 9 p.m., paused at Lethbridge, Alberta, while the aircraft refueled, and landed in Winnipeg yesterday morning, according to J. J. Young, manager of the association.

"All previous air shipments of strawberries both from here and Vancouver amounted only to "a few crates in the bottom of a passenger plane," Mr. Young said

But for this shipment, the Saanich producers jammed a whole cargo plane with more than three tons of freshly picked berries, worth $1,300 to them.

PRICE HIGH

The price in Winnipeg? "High," said Mr. Young. "But since they're the first strawberries of the season, they were willing to pay the price."

J. B. Dickie, head of the Canadian Fruit Distributors in Winnipeg, reported yesterday morning the berries arrived in "excellent" condition. "They're the best strawberries we've ever seen in Winnipeg," he added.

The air shipment, timed to coincide with Winnipeg's 75th anniversary celebrations, was followed last night by a carload express shipment by rail.

NEED RAIN, PICKERS

In spite of the good start for the berry season, Mr. Young said the producers need both rain and pickers if the rest of the crop is to "pan out."

"The peak of the season should normally be about the end of this week," he said. "But there won't be a peak at all if we don't get a day's rain right away."

He added that the lack of rain was a chronic worry in Saanich, and one reason why all agricultural groups there have united to secure an irrigation system for the peninsula.

SAFFRON WALDEN, Essex, England (CP)—Classes for cafe staffs in cleaner dish washing were urged by Dr. S. R. Richardson, local health officer.

$75,000 Wing To Go on Normal School

A new $75,000 wing is to be added to the Provincial Normal School-Victoria College building on Lansdowne Road.

An announcement yesterday by Education Minister W. T. Straith said six acres of the Dunlop property adjacent to the present grounds had been acquired to make way for the expansion.

Plans are not yet approved, but Mr. Straith said it was "hoped" the structure will be ready for classes by the Autumn of 1950.

NEW CLASSROOMS

The addition will provide four new classrooms and library. The library space in the old building is to be converted into two classrooms.

Mr. Straith said both Dr. J. M. Ewing, principal of Victoria College, and H. O. English, principal of the Normal School, had requested more space.

Normal School enrollment increased by 40 this year and is expected to increase by an equal number this year, bringing the total in the 1949-50 class to 220 students.

MORE NON-VETERANS

While the enrolment of Victoria College has declined this year due to a reduced number of veterans, the number of non-veterans has increased and is expected to rise by 40 pupils for 1949-50

During the current year, Mr Straith said, extra space was used in University School, but this was not regarded as satisfactory

Mr. Straith said it was proposed to extend the street to the north of the present school propery and to extend Foul Bay Road on the eastern boundary of the new property acquired

States C.C.F. Plans to Enter Log Business

The C.C.F. if elected will go into the logging business—and make it pay, Mrs. Patricia Luchinsky said last night

She addressed eight people at a political gathering held in the Boy Scouts Hall at Cadboro Bay.

Mrs. Luchinsky said the C.C.F. could save nearly 100 per cent by the centralized buying of equipment.

The meeting started and ended in a "round table conference" in which Mrs. Luchinsky did not bother to mount the platform.
